Gandhi Quits In Defeat

Times News Service

NEW DELHI — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi decided today to resign following the loss of her seat in Parliament and reverses suffered by her Congress party in the Indian general election, her spokesman said.

Opposition leaders began talks aimed at forming a new government.

The prime minister's spokesman said Mrs. Gandhi would formally submit her resignation Tuesday, ending 11 years as leader of the world's second most populous nation. China has the largest population.

The Congress party, which has ruled India since independence from Britain 30 years ago, trailed by a wide margin in the parliamentary returns and appeared unlikely to win enough seats to stay in power.

With results declared in races of 393 of the 542 seats in the lower house of Parliament, the new Janata People's party and its allies had 198 seats.

The Congress party, which won two-thirds of the seats in the 1971 elections, had 120 seats. The pro-Moscow communists won seven seats, and independents and other groups split the remainder.

Hours after her defeat was announced, Mrs. Gandhi revoked the harsh and unpopular state of emergency which she imposed 21 months ago and which was largely credited for her downfall.

Mrs. Gandhi polled 122,517 votes to 177,729 for her rival, Raj Narain, a Socialist lawyer, in her home district of Rae Bareli, seemingly laying to rest her party's slogan that "India is Indira and Indira is India."

Her controversial 30-year-old son Sanjay lost by 75,000 votes in a constituency adjoining hers. Both were defeated by Janata candidates.

The chief contenders to succeed her are two former leaders of the Congress party who broke with her, Morarji Desai and Jagjivan Ram.

Desai, now 81, was Mrs. Gandhi's deputy prime minister in 1969 when she split the party in a struggle for power with conservative leaders. He and other conservatives formed the Opposition Congress, and in January it merged with three other opposition parties to form the Janata.

Ram, the 68-year-old leader of India's Untouchable caste, was agriculture minister in Mrs. Gandhi's last cabinet. He broke with her last month and formed the Congress for Democracy, which won seven seats in the early returns.

There was speculation that Mrs. Gandhi's defeat would produce more defectors from her Congress who would rally behind Desai or Ram.

UGANDA FLIGHT DEMANDED

Hostage-Taker Holds Four in Toronto Bank

Armed Toronto police guard bank entrance

TORONTO (CP)—A gunman demanding an airplane to Uganda released all but four hostages from a downtown bank today, said a radio commentator who was involved in negotiations.

The gunman, who identified himself as Bob McLagan, 38, of Vancouver, initially said he had 18 hostages. He was identified earlier as Bob McClarken.

One of the four hostages being detained was S. Sgt. Bill Donaldson of the Metropolitan Toronto police. Donaldson entered the bank with Charles Doering of radio station CFRB to negotiate with the gunman who had asked to speak with a reporter.

The man said he was armed with a 12-guage "chopped down" pump-action shotgun containing five shots. Police said he fired a warning shot at police at 1:20 p.m., about 2½ hours after the hostages were taken.

Shortly before the warning shot was fired, the man said none of the hostages was injured. After the shot was fired, he said he did not think anyone was injured. However, ambulances stood by.

Police, including sharpshooters with bullet-proof vests from the Metropolitan Toronto emergency task force, cordoned off the area around the bank— the Bank Canadian National—at the southeast corner of King and Yonge streets.

Police said the man demanded a car to take him, four hostages and a senior police officer to the airport. Officials at Toronto International Airport and Downsview military airport said they were standing by.

Asked in a telephone interview with radio station CFTR whether he was prepared to use the gun, the man said: "Yes, I am. That's why I brought it along."

In an interview with As It Happens, a CBC radio program, he was asked why he wanted to go to Uganda.

"Why Uganda? I want to see my pal Idi Amin. I'm fan of his. I've never met the man, but I'm a fan of his.

"I want a C-130 Hercules aircraft. I don't want to own it. I just want to borrow it and take a little drive down to Africa."

Curtis Plans New Transit Body

Municipal Affairs Minister Hugh Curtis attacked B.C. Hydro at the weekend for having a vengeful, negative and vindictive attitude towards his ministry's transit division, and said he will create a new authority to take over the planning and management of all transit services.

Curtis said legislation to set up the new body should be introduced this spring, and he hoped the move would lessen some of the friction between his office and Hydro which "seems to forget who's boss."

The minister said that with the creation of the new authority, Hydro would lose its role as planner and manager and would simply be charged with supplying services, for which it would be paid by the new body.

He said the authority was needed largely because of hostilities between his office and Hydro which he has been unable to overcome.

Curtis said Hydro leaves meetings in Victoria and "seems to go back into its Vancouver ivory tower and forget who's in charge . . . It seems to forget who's boss . . . Its boss is the government of the day, elected to govern for the people, not the reverse."

He said the ferry system "is beginning to have a serious strike against it from the process of Hydro badmouthing it all the time . . . They will do anything to cut down the ferry system."

Hydro chairman Robert Bonner, however, said today his organization supports the Burrard Inlet service and is doing its best to promote the operation. He denies that members of his management staff are trying to belittle or undermine the system.

"None of the Hydro management are making such statements to my knowledge," he said. "I'd be greatly surprised if there is any factual basis for that belief."

Bonner refused comment on Curtis's plans for a new transit authority, saying he will reserve judgment until the authority is established and its responsibilities made clear.

About the minister's attack on Hydro as vindictive and negative, Bonner would only say that "I don't comment on political statements from either side of the house."

Grizzly Plan 'No Secret'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial government plans to approve a $100 million Grizzly Valley pipeline development were "common knowledge" in Dawson Creek seven days before the official announcement, Arthur Cameron, former constituency secretary to Economic Development minister Don Phillips, said today.

Cameron told the Grizzly Valley pipeline inquiry under Mr. Justice Walter Kirke that he bought shares in one of the companies affected by the development three days before Premier Bill Bennett's announcement of the project in Dawson Creek Dec. 10, 1976.

The inquiry was called to investigate possible stock and land speculation based on confidential knowledge of the pipeline development which would tap two natural gas fields in northeastern British Columbia.

Cameron, a 24-year-old travel agent and director of the B.C. Social Credit Party, said there was rumor of a major announcement in Dawson Creek as early as Dec. 1. But by Dec. 3 he said, residents were convinced the government would announce a gas pipeline.

"Dawson Creek is a small town," Cameron said, "and everybody knows everybody else and everybody else's business. It was common knowledge.

Cameron said he received a confidential memo from Phillips Dec. 4 ordering him to arrange car transportation for the premier and other dignitaries on Dec. 10.

Cameron told the inquiry he went to his stockbroker Dec. 7 to buy shares in Quasar Petroleum Ltd., a company with large gas reserves in the region, but his broker advised against the purchases on the grounds that everyone

Oil Tanker Breaks Apart

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A 711-foot Panamanian tanker carrying more than 546,000 gallons of fuel split in half off the coast of North Carolina early today.

Twelve crewmen are missing but 27 others have been rescued by passing ships.

Although the amount of oil spilled from the tanker Claude Conway was not determined, Coast Guard spokesman Les Ceney said that even if it all spilled, it would still be considered a relatively minor spill.

The tanker, carrying 7,000 barrels of intermediate fuel and 6,000 barrels of bunker fuel, was enroute from New York to the Bahamas, said its agent, Cosmopolitan Shipping of New York.

A passing merchant vessel reported at about 1:45 a.m. PST that the Claude Conway had split in half about 125 miles southeast of Wilmington, N.C.

The two sections of the severed tanker were floating more than two miles apart, Ceney said.

"What caused the craft to break in two, we don't know yet," Ceney said.

He said seas were calm and the wind was at 10 knots.

Ceney said uninjured survivors would be taken to next respective destinations of the three merchant vessels. He said it was not immediately determined where that was.

DIXY TAKES TANKER DOWN STRAIT

Ray took over the helm of the Arco Fairbanks, loaded with about 80,000 barrels of crude oil from Iran. She was on board at the invitation of Atlantic Richfield Oil Co. executives, who are trying to persuade Washington residents that supertankers are safe.

The governor steered the 138-foot-wide tanker through waters as narrow as one mile between the San Juan Islands.

The trip took about six hours, beginning at Port Angeles, winding through the San Juans and ending at Cherry Point.

Out of the Stillness . . . Magic

By HUMPHRY DAVY
Times Staff

The woods were still except for gentle breezes moving from time to time through the tops of the tall fir trees.

A small bus stopped at the edge of the woods and out poured 12 young people, ranging from eight to 13 years.

Then, as if someone had waved a magic wand, the group of boys and girls, broke loose and the woods exploded with the sound of laughter and running footsteps as though 12 pent-up spirits had been released into space.

The scene was John Deane Park in North Saanich, one of several provincial and regional parks where handicapped children are exposed to the outdoors and nature.

The outdoors it appears has a therapeutic effect on the handicapped.

At least, that's the unanimous opinion of the program workers for the Victoria Society for the Recreation of Handicapped persons.

"One day we took a small group on a nature trail," she related.

Among them there was a boy who had never spoken. It was the first time that he had been exposed to wilderness, and the lad seemed to glow as he viewed the trees, the wildflowers and moss covered rocks.

"Then it happened . . ." he spoke for the first time. He even called me by my name," she said.

Simard said handicapped persons appreciate the outdoors and nature as much as anyone else.

"We are inclined to forget this when we are planning recreational activities for them," she said.

Some children show a keen interest in their surroundings. They ask the names of flowers, trees and birds, she said.

Those tastes of freedom—those moments of happiness for handicapped people, young and old, are among the reasons the Times has this month joined with CJVI in a campaign for operating funds for the recreational society.

Abolish English Schools, PQ Convention Demands

MONTREAL (CP) — Despite an appeal for moderation from Premier Rene Levesque, delegates to a Parti Quebecois regional convention passed a resolution on the weekend calling for gradual abolition of Quebec's English-language public school system.

The delegates, representing 17 Montreal-area riding associations, voted 170-156 to recommend that the Quebec government create a non-denominational public school system in which the only language of instruction would be French. English would be taught as a foreign language.

The resolution is not binding on the government, and in fact contradicts the party platform, which guarantees maintenance of English-language schooling in the province.

Quebec's current public school system is divided along religious lines, with Protestant and Catholic school boards each offering instruction in English and in French. However, most Protestant students are English, while most Catholic students are French.

There was stormy debate Sunday not only on the education issue, but also on another resolution to "abolish all legal privileges" of English-speaking Quebecers.

At one point, Sports Minister Claude Charron intervened to warn delegates they should not adopt a stand so radical as to repudiate the government's new language policy before legislation is tabled in the Quebec national assembly.

Charron is a member of a cabinet committee, headed by Camille Laurin, minister for cultural development, which is preparing major revisions to the Quebec Official Language Act along with a white paper which the PQ promises will be "charter of the French language."

The government is expected to tighten restrictions on the entrance of immigrants into English-lanugage schools and to push for increased use of French in business.

After three votes, the regional delegates were unable to decide on a resolution calling on the government "to abolish all legal privileges now enjoyed by the English language . . ." with the goal of eventually reducing English to the status of "other foreign languages."

Under the British North America Act, Quebecers have the right to speak either English or French in the courts and the national assembly, as well as having constitutional guarantees relating to schooling.

One delegate was roundly booed when he suggested that angophones, as contributors to Quebec's cultural heritage, should be given the time to adapt gradually to social change.

But journalist Jean-Marc Leger said: "It's the survival of the French language, not of English, that is threatened on this continent and it is perfectly normal to legislate with this in mind."

On Saturday, the estimated 400 delegates atended workshops to study a total of 387 resolutions, of which 22 were eventually adopted.

One of them called for the parole of nine "political prisoners" incarcerated in connection with their activities as members of the Front de Liberation du Quebec (FLQ). They are eligible for parole this year and should be treated on the same basis as ordinary prisoners, the resolution said.

The delegates also called for a government investigation of the 1970 October Crisis and for abolition of the federal War Measures Act invoked by Ottawa during the crisis.

Another resolution condemned as an infringement of freedom of the press an inquiry, requested by Prime Minister Trudeau, into alleged separatist bias in news coverage at the CBC's French-language network. Quebec's Minister for Cultural Development Camille Lanvin said the government's forthcoming language legislation will make the province as overwhelmingly French as Ontario is overwhelmingly English.

Laurin, responsible for drafting the legislation, said clauses in the law will ensure that everything will be done in French within five years in Quebec business firms.

He did not elaborate — either to reporters or to Parti Quebecois members whom he addressed Saturday — on what methods would be used to make French the main language of business.

U.S. BOOSTS CHEMICAL WARFARE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon, without fanfare, has reversed a 19969 decision to "de-amphasize" the gas warfare program and now is working to upgrade its ability to wage war with chemicals.

Research is currently under way on a nerve gas which can cause agonizing death with spasms and convulsions from only a drop or two on a person's skin.

The U.S. navy is spending $1.5 million this year to resume research on a bomb, code-named "Big Eye," that would spread the gas over a square mile area, and the army is spending $2.7 million to continue research on the controversial binary artillery shell that would mix two harmless chemicals in flight to form a deadly nerve gas.

U.S. chemical warfare experts talk in a way that would be chilling to many civilians about possible use of gas mines, missiles, bombs and shells as defensive and offensive weapons.

French Leftists Win In Civic Elections

Times News Services

PARIS — The French stock market fell sharply today after the Socialist-Communist alliance won a popular vote majority and control of more than 70 per cent of the larger cities in Sunday's local elections.

One broker blamed the slide, which averaged about four per cent, on "jittery Black Monday trading."

Sunday's results spelled the biggest defeat ever for the conservative-centrist coalition the late President Charles de Gaulle forged after he established the Fifth Republic 19 years ago.

It opened a year of hard political fighting in preparation for National Assembly elections, scheduled for March 1978.

Observers said the stock market seemed to react in particular to leftist plans to nationalize French industries if it takes power.

The French franc held firm in currency trading at just less than under five to the U.S. dollar, but a trader said the government was intervening heavily to protect the currency.

Leftist leaders said Sunday's voting showed the French people no longer feared the prospect of leftists in power.

Incomplete reports showed the leftist election landslide, larger than most experts had predicted, swept 156 of France's 221 major cities. The left also won the popular vote, 52 per cent to 46 per cent.

The Communist-Socialist alliance also beat five members of Giscard's cabinet who ran in local elections.

Sunday's balloting was in those cities where no candidates won a majority in the first round of voting March 13.

Giscard, who beat Socialist leader Francois Mitterrand by only 1 per cent in the 1974 presidential election, has since seen the left beat his forces in the 1976 cantonal elections and a string of parliamentary by-elections.

Leftist leaders greeted their gains with unconcealed glee, while leaders of Giscard's coalition urged an effort to heal their internal split in time to avert a leftist sweep of the 1978 elections.

Israel Devalues

JERUSALEM (Reuter) — The government announced a second devaluation this month on Sunday of the Israeli pound to combat increased public spending. The pound's new rate against a five-currency basket—the U.S. dollar, the British pound, West German mark, French franc and Dutch guilder—will be 9.42 instead 9.25.

Tories Dispute Meaning Of Armored Car Purchase

Michael Forrestal (PC — Dartmouth-Halifax) claimed on the weekend that fear of trouble in Quebec is the reason the federal government is ordering 700 armored cars. But Conservative MP Allan McKinnon of Victoria today said Forrestal's comments were "irresponsible."

"Trudeau doesn't want to be caught as he was in the 1970 crisis without such a top-notch anti-riot vehicle," said Forrestal.

McKinnon, contacted in Ottawa, said, "It's a good vehicle in case of civil disorder, but it's not very responsible to say they are being bought to put down trouble in Quebec."

McKinnon said he was present in Wainright, Alta., some time ago when the Piranha, along with a Cadillac armored car from the United States and another model from Brazil, were tested.

Each armored car will cost about $400,000, including spare parts, McKinnon said, and will be built by General Motors in London, Ont. He said the initial order will be for 350 armored cars.

"They will have several roles," he said. "One-third will go to the militia and two-thirds to the regular force."

McKinnon said the new armored cars will replace the aging tank squadrons.

"They can be used as armored troop carriers, carrying about 10 men," he said. "They can also be used as reconnaisance vehicles and as pseudo-tanks with 75 millimetre guns."

McKinnon said announcement of the order was made in January and Forrestal's comments were probably due "to a very dull weekend in Ottawa."

William Faith Funeral Service Set Tuesday

St. James; three brothers, Andy, James and Thomas, all of Northern Ireland, and three sisters, Mrs. Nellie McFarland, Mrs. Martha Rehilland Mrs. Mary McLaughlan, also of Northern Ireland.

Grizzly Plan 'No Secret'

was aware of the pipeline development and the stock had already gained as much as it could.

"I bought anyway and lost," he said.

Cameron bought 1,000 Quasar shares Dec. 7 and $8 a share and sold them in January and February for a net loss of about $1,400.

He said he earned a profit of about $108 on a December transaction involving 1,000 shares of Cheyenne Petroleum Ltd., another gas producer in the region.

Cameron said he disclosed his share transactions to Phillips just before Christmas several days after Phillips dismissed Arthur Weeks, his special aide.

Cameron resigned as constituency secretary Jan. 1 but said he hopes to resume his post if the inquiry finds there was no wrongdoing in his stock transactions.

He told the inquiry he purchased his shares because "I was hoping to make a dollar." He said at the time he bought his shares his local broker told him the Dawson Creek office was perhaps the heaviest trader in Quasar and Cheyenne stock in western Canada, Canada.

In earlier testimony, commission counsel Ernest Alexander read the inquiry a sworn affidavit submitted by Dick Lillico, director of information at B.C.'s London, England, office.

Lillico's affidavit disclosed that he bought 69,000 shares in August Petroleum for $16,000 in early August 1976, before he left for England. These shares were later consolidated for a five-for-one basis into 13,800 Cheyenne shares.

Lillico said he was an old friend of Weeks but that Weeks "at no time gave or attempted to give me privileged or confidential information." He said his purchases in Cheyenne stock were based on a long-time interest in Grizzly Valley development, not privileged or confidential infomation that he received from anyone in government.

Cameron also told the inquiry that he had little contact with Weeks, and that "Weeks did not advise me to buy stocks."

Callaghan Confident Of Victory

Times News Services

LONDON—Prime Minister James Callaghan said today that if his government is defeated in a parliamentary confidence vote Wednesday he is convinced his ruling labor party will win in the new general elections.

Addressing a joint meeting of labor party and trade union chiefs, Callaghan said, "If there is an election, the Labor party will win."

Political sources have said Callaghan's only hope of survival was to arrange a deal in meetings today with the leaders of the Liberal and Ulster Unionist parties to guarantee their support or at least abstention from the confidence vote.

But Callaghan said, "Any arrangements made with minority groups will not change the Labor party's conscience."

Already, one right-wing Labor MP and two breakaway Laborites from Scotland have threatened to vote against the government and a fourth is too ill to take part in balloting.

The prime minister's chances of securing Liberal support for his government suffered a blow Sunday when Liberal Leader David Steel said on television his party would need a public statement on agreed policies before it voted with the government.

Political observers believe it unlikely that Callaghan will make such a public statement, which Steel said should include tax reform and plans for proportional representation, because of the furore it would cause in the Labor party.

Callaghan is likely to have lengthy discussions with Steel in the next two days to find common ground between the two parties.

He is also due to meet James Molyneaux, the leader of the United Ulster Unionist Coalition, which holds eight Northern Ireland seats in Parliament.

UUUC members of Parliament voted for the government in a confidence resolution last year, but they have indicated they will side with the opposition this time unless they get assurances of stronger action against guerrillas in Northern Ireland.

The other influential minority parties, the Scottish and Welsh Nationalists, who hold 14 seats between them, have said they will vote against the government because of recent setbacks in plans for limited self-government in their home regions.

Defeat would force Callaghan's resignation after only 11 months in office and plunge Britain into elections that could lead to Conservative party leader Margaret Thatcher becoming Britain's first woman prime minister.

A newspaper poll today showed the Conservatives held a 7 per cent popularity lead over Labor, a margin that could mean a 50 or 60-seat majority in the House of Commons.

A Gallup poll last week gave Conservatives a 16.5 per cent lead.

SOOKE SPURNS LEVY

Sooke residents Saturday rejected a half-mill levy to be placed in reserve for future purchase of property for community buildings and parks.

By a vote of 304 to 253, they decided not to authorize the Capital Regional Board to borrow up to $160,000 for property purchases, providing repayments did not exceed half a mill.

Out of approximately 3,000 voters, about 17 per cent cast ballots. There were no ballots cast in Wednesday's advance poll.

Results from individual polls on Saturday were East Sooke, 56 no and 11 yes; Saseenos School, 30 no and 46 yes; Sooke Elementary Poll A, 107 no and 114 yes; Sooke Elementary Poll B, 63 no and 62 yes; Jordan River, eight no and nine yes; Shirley Hall, seven no and 10 yes, and Port Renfrew, 33 no and 1 yes.

Committee Backs $50 Tax Rebate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate finance committee today approved a tax cut bill that would send $50 rebate checks to more than 90 per cent of Americans and give a small cut to most of those who use the standard deduction.

The bill was approved on a 9-7 straight party-line vote, with Democrats supporting and Republicans opposing it.

The bill is almost exactly what President Carter requested, except that proposed tax incentives for businesses have been rewritten extensively.

The bill could reach the Senate floor next week, where a rugged battle is assured.

A fight is expected on the rebate, which Republicans strongly oppose and which a number of Democrats support only lukewarmly and say they will back only out of party loyalty.

Brezhnev Warns Carter

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev accused the United States today of interfering in his country's internal affairs and said there can be no development of normal relations if it continues.

The Soviet Communist party chief said Moscow wants "good-neighborly ties" with the United States, but that Washington has to show understanding and "a minimum of correctness" in its dealing with the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin chief, speaking to a congress of trade unionists, said what he called the "direct attempts at interference on our internal affairs by official American circles" is a major obstacle to developing relations between the two powers.

"We will not permit interference in our internal affairs in any circumstances," he said. "Development of formal relations in these conditions is unthinkable."

The 70-year-old Soviet leader left no doubt that he was referring to expressions of support by President Carter for dissidents campaigning for broader human rights in Communist countries.

Only a few minutes before he had referred to Soviet dissidents as "outcasts who are seeking to undermine our Socialist society" and are asking for support from "imperialists" to this end.

There Goes Another Farm

Although Social Credit pledged itself in the 1975 election to preserve British Columbia's dwindling stocks of farmland, now that the party is the government, the erosion of valuable agricultural land continues. The Socreds have not come right out and abolished the land commission, or gutted it of all responsibility. It is too subtle for that. Instead we see a gradual process of diminution.

The latest example is the decision of the cabinet to free from the agricultural land reserve at Chilliwack some eight acres of medium to good farmland so a car dealer friend of the government can expand his Chevrolet agency.

It affects more than the eight acres, as well, since Doug Brett's automobile dealership will be enlarged on the property so it makes inaccessible for farming a further 20 acres, also owned by Brett, in the same parcel.

Cabinet's decision, which was revealed by NDP member Robert Skelly (Alberni) last week in the legislature, is a flagrant example of political interference in local responsibilities. It also flies in the face of expert advice from several quarters.

The land commission (both the former NDP-appointed board and the new nominees) turned down Brett's application for exclusion three times. The Fraser-Cheam Regional District twice refused to espouse his appeal, and the cabinet itself last December turned him down.

Why the change of heart? Chilliwack Socred MLA Harvey Schroeder made a special pitch on his behalf to the nine-member environment and land use committee of the cabinet, and the appeal was finally allowed. What new information or reasons Schroeder used to win Brett's case is not known, since the appeal was heard behind closed doors. We doubt there were any; all the evidence points to the decision being a political reward for a long-time party supporter. Schroeder's constituency office was located in Brett's building for some years.

All the expert advice was against allowing the appeal. The land is mostly class two farmland and some class three. Class one is the best type of farmland, but there is little of that in B.C. Agriculturist David Owen, president of the B.C. Institute of Agrologists, says the land could grow corn, vegetables, hay, "virtually any crops."

Brett's land is admittedly on a main thoroughfare through the south side of Chilliwack, but it adjoins the municipal airport which someday probably will be returned to active farming. The decision increases the pressure on other parcels of farmland nearby which would be much more valuable as commercial property.

Worst of all, the cabinet decision is like a red flag signalling who knows how many other holders of parcels of farmland all over B.C. that they can safely ignore the land commission, local regional districts and sundry expert opinion. Just get the ear of your government MLA and he'll open a pipeline to the cabinet. Better yet if you're an active party supporter.

What other interpretation can be placed upon the cabinet reversal? It was a cynical and hypocritical decision, symbolically representative of a government which puts cars and car dealers ahead of people.

". . . ah, yes, my good man, give us two more margaritas, three caesars, two ryes neat, four Best O' the Bog single malt Scotch whiskies and a tray full of your finest ale . . ."

Racism in the Schools

The B.C. School Trustees' Association is misleading itself and doing a disservice to school children by its misguided attempts to suppress a controversial slide and tape presentation on racism which was prepared last year by the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

The dispute first jumped into the headlines last year when Surrey school board voted to ban the learning package from district schools. Subsequently, the BCSTA sought to have the package destroyed.

It wrote to Secretary of State John Roberts, whose department last August gave the BCTF $1,500 to make copies of the presentation, asking him to destroy the item.

Without getting into the arguments about whether the BCTF has the right to produce educational materials, and Ottawa's place in funding provincial learning aids, the BCSTA's attitude is disappointing.

The association refused to cooperate with the BCTF in making the package because it refused to accept that there is racism, in the schools of B.C. and outside them. Ostrich-like the trustees' association suggests that merely using the package in the schools may promote racism.

That is a weak and simplistic argument that simply won't hold water. Refusing to acknowledge the problem, or simply ignoring it is not going to make racism disappear. Doing nothing in the face of the virulent and vicious racism that sprouts up in B.C. — se Vanderhoof, Richmond, Quesnel — from time to time is going to agravate it.

Trying to deny racism in B.C is like an elephant trying to hide behind a sapling. The BCSTA should come out of its idyllic unreal world and face facts.

Labor Breakthrough in UK?

LONDON — Similar recent decisions by two trade unions are so revolutionary in their implications that they may herald a fundamental change in British industrial relations attitudes.

In both cases, union members were on unofficial strike and had defied the orders of their union executives to return to work pending negotiations. They were threatening by their action to severely damage the companies involved and possibly cause widespread redundancies of other union members.

In each case, the strike was eventually broken by an unprecedented degree of union-management co-operation in the larger interest of the survival of companies.

Example one is the recent strike at the Times newspaper, in which action by 120 men out of a work force of 2,000 over 13 days caused a loss of 2.5 million copies and loss of six complete issues.

Example two is the far more serious strike by 3,500 toolmakers at British Leyland, the state-supported auto manufacturing firm, which eventually made 46,000 car workers temporarily idle.

Expelled Rebels

The Times dispute originally involved two unions, the National Society of Operative Printers, Graphical and Media Personnel (NATSOPA) and the Society of Graphical and Allied Trades (SOGAT). They sought special payments which the company said would contravene the national wage restraint pact and refused to follow established dispute procedure.

The SOGAT leadership eventually convinced its members to give a guarantee of non-disruptive work but the NATSOPA leadership failed to convince its membership at the Times.

As the deadlock continued, with the survival of the Times and its 2,000 workers at stake, the NATSOPA leaders took the extreme step of expelling their rebellious members, a move that meant that none of these men would ever work again in national newspapers for the rest of their lives. The next step would have been for NATSOPA to bring into the Times new employees with current union cards.

This was not necessary, as the very real fear of lifetime unemployment convinced the rebels to end their strike.

In the British Leyland dispute, 3,500 toolmakers at 11 separate plants went on unofficial strike to protest the erosion of their pay differentials with low-paid workers.

It was their case that the national wage restraint agreement had brought them to a pay level not much higher than floorsweepers in the auto plants and they demanded the right to separate bargaining talks with management. It was the first strike involving this particular group in 12 years.

British Leyland makes cars, trucks, buses and other specialized vehicles and has 120 separate bargaining groups in its automobile division alone. Management shuddered at the idea of a new group and the door this would open to demands for separate bargaining by a host of subgroups. The powerful and militant Amalgamated Union of Engineering Workers, which represents the toolmakers, was no less opposed to a diminution of its clout at the bargaining table.

The unofficial strike dragged on for four weeks, causing a relentless strangulation of production in the entire corporation. By its closing days, it had cost British Leyland production of 50,000 automobiles worth $180 million at showroom prices. The 46,000 laid-off workers were demanding action to save their jobs and the British government was threatening to withhold the next slice of state funds that are being supplied to keep the corporation afloat in return for a weekly production level of 20,000 cars.

Engineering union leaders ordered the men back to work and were defied. The strikers humiliated their militant leader Hugh Scanlon with abuse and curses when he appeared before then personally to plead for a return to work.

The Labor government considered the 700 industrial disputes at British Leyland in 1976, the lost production at British Leyland in 1977 of $270 million before this dispute began, and the forthcoming decision on new government funds for the company, before calling a meeting with the leaders of all unions at British Leyland.

What emerged was a history-making decision by all 21 unions employed by British Leyland to unite with the government and the company to smash the strike. The unions agreed to back an ultimatum by British Leyland management to the strikers to return to work or be fired. This accord meant the toolmakers work would be put out to contract and the other British Leyland union members would walk through the toolmakers' picket lines to work as usual.

As in the case of the Times strikers, the toolmakers surrendered within 24 hours. The ultimatum was withdrawn and the toolmakers' representatives were invited to join other engineering union negotiators in a meeting with management to discuss their special problems. But the engineering union made it brutally clear that the toolmakers would have no separate bargaining talks.

Healthier Era?

This last point was of great importance to the engineering union which saw in this unofficial strike the same threat to its leadership as NATSOPA saw in the Times dispute.

In both the newspaper and automobile industries there has been a tendency for some years for unofficial disputes to be caused by junior branch officials, called shop stewards, who often hold more real power over the membership than heads of major unions. In both these cases, union leaderships were achieving the double aim of saving the jobs of the majority of their memberships and asserting their own power, which had been eroded by such unofficial strikes.

The government's relief is directed at settlement of the British Leyland strike, which posed a grave threat to the national economy and the export drive.

But the longer-range result of these two extraordinary episodes could be a healthier industrial relations atmosphere in Britain.

Train the Owners!

I cut short my gardening chores this afternoon because I wanted to take time to write this complaint in the hopes that some authorities, and at least some pet owners, will possibly come to realize and accept their responsibilities as pet owners in relation to their neighbors' rights.

We have a yard that is completely fenced but today after about two minutes in our front yard I became aware of a terrible odor. I soon realized that I had stepped in some droppings that oozed up over my shoe.

I have long been tormented by the sight of people walking their dogs and allowing them to do their thing in the area just outside our fence, which by the way we maintain. Why can't these people have their pets do their chores on their own premises before their daily exercise period or is it that they don't want their own yards fouled?

We are constantly being reminded of various forms of pollution in this day and age and I honestly feel this is one form of pollution that will have to be taken more seriously in the very near future. Being a pet owner is something that should have stricter controls in relation to our urban environment. — R. Faulkner, 1005 Clare Street.

Cass Realistic

So Mr. Ian Cass is worried about the overuse of the private automobile and wants to do something about it. Good heavens, how was it we actually elected a civic official that was in touch with reality? We don't as a rule do that sort of thing even provincially or federally.

It is frightening to think of what Mr. Cass might be up to next. Maybe he will endorse a sensible system of recycling sewage and garbage? Maybe he will get concerned with our shipping laws? Maybe he is in favor of retaining agricultural land for agriculture? Maybe he has an imagination? Maybe he cares about the future? A man with such dangerous ideas seldom gets re-elected.

Obscene

Margaret Trudeau has suffered enough because of the innuendoes printed about her recently, in your paper and in others in Canada and Britain. But to print a cartoon like Bierman's is inhuman.

It is one thing for your admittedly clever cartoonist to prick the pompous balloon of elected politicians, as he does from time to time with telling effect. It is quite another matter to viciously attack Mrs. Trudeau with a cartoon such as this one.

Whatever possessed you to run such a disgusting thing? I protest most vigorously your cruelty and heartlessness, and I am sure I am not alone in my reaction. — Anabel Cranstoun, 194 Denison Road.

Trident

I'm writing to express my concern about the Trident missile base, now under construction 60 miles from Victoria.

Prime Minister Trudeau probably already knows that this base poses an immediate threat of radiation leakage or accident in the already-crowded Strait of Juan de Fuca. It will make our area a prime military target and only helps to provide the U.S. the capacity to kill the world's population more times over. There seems to be no end to the destructive, warrior mentality.

President Carter has spoken against nuclear proliferation, and has invited Mr. Trudeau to call him "anytime." Please call him, Mr. PM and tell him to put his words into action by stopping trident. You are the only person in Canada (and perhaps the world) who is in a position to do this, for the good of us all.

Mr request may seem laughable and simplistic, but direct action is needed in the face of the mentality so demented as to produce trident and other massive overkill weapons. The alternative is passive complicity, and profit-making by Canadians who provide the needed materials and machinery, the same position Canada took during the Vietnam war, but this time Canadians may be killed. — Jan Lovewell R.R. 1, Sooke.

Get Them in Court

In your editorial of March 14 Get Tough With CP you are, literally, "on the right track." The CPR is so huge and insensitive, however, that they do not usually pay much attention to the media. The only way to get action is to encourage the government to act as it should in this case, in the courts if necessary. — J. A. Pelter, Victoria.

Bomb destruction in Hanoi in 1973, caused by U.S. B-52s.

First Things

I was just listening to remarks on an open line program on a U.S. radio station re an American group going to Vietnam to find what has happened to 2,500 U.S. soldiers now said to be missing in that country. The U.S. conscience cannot allow strangely misdirected. What were forces of the leader of "the free world" doing in a little country of poor peasants whose only fault was to choose their own economic system? The Americans forfeited their own right to membership in the UN by engaging in such a war and by their use of weapons outlawed by any civilized nation.

James M. Minifie wrote, Sept. 18, 1971: ". . . 5.2 million acres of forestland and 688,000 acres of cropland have been destroyed by chemical defoliation at a time when millions of people are hungry." The Canadian Dr. Venema stated that My Lais were so common he didn't report them.

Can the Americans account for perhaps over two million Vietnamese, killed, lamed for life in "tiger cages," poisoned by gas raids, starved by chemicals that destroyed crops and poisoned the drinking water, burned alive by napalm? For the fact that not one cent of the millio promised for reparations has been paid? Let's put first things first.—Frances Wilcox, 820 Cook Street.

Vietnam to join the UN until these men are found or accounted for.

Actually, on several occasions the American invaders bombed their own men by mistake. And on one occasion the Viet Cong captured some flame throwers and used them. The remains might be hard to identify.

However, the whole inquiry seems Conscience?

The great concern by directors of Royal Jubilee hospital to ban smoking in the hospital, or that board fells that it cannot in good conscience promote good health and still condone smoking is odd.

I really didn't think they had such a thing as a "conscience" when taxpayers' money is used daily for abortions.

Murder is against the criminal code of Canada, and the fifth commandment of God.

When we see six million abortions performed in the U.S. in 1976, and B.C. having the highest abortion rate in Canada, it is time we realized "that human life from the first instant consists of body and soul, to destroy these innocents will bring great destruction on our country and us," words spoken by Mary, Christ's mother, in a 1976 apparition.

We do not condone murder, yet we daily close our eyes to this terrible tragedy and even contribute to its cause by our silence and indifference. — Anne V. Sherbrook, 1919 Davies St.

Pensions

The Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada is deeply concerned about the criticisms being directed at the indexation of federal public service pensions and the pressures being exerted to remove or reduce this indexation.

It is quite obvious that the critics are obsessed with the idea of protecting their own interests and are using public servants as scapegoats. The main attack comes from those with a vested interest in limiting or altogether eliminating the indexation of pensions.

The time has come for the government of Canada to institute a thorough investigation of the whole pension system, particularly in the private sector, in an effort to devise a scheme that will assure all annuitants in the country of an inflation-protected income during their retirement. It is unthinkable that the citizens of this country should be subjected to the only alternative now available — that is, the indignity and non-selectivity of the various federal, provincial and municipal welfare programs. — C. L. Lockhart, President.

Catch-22

Catch-22 rides again! Where else but in the Soviet Union? How? In the case of Amner Zavurov, a young Soviet Jew who applied to emigrate to Israel.

Soviet officials promised him an exit visa but first they demanded that he give up his internal passport. So of course he did.

And then what happened? The next day they asked him to produce his internal passport. When he couldn't do this, he was arrested for parasitism, tried without a lawyer (contrary to Soviet law) in a language he did not understand, and sentenced to three years imprisonment.

This kind of cheap trick belongs more in the movies than in real life, don't you think? — Rochelle Gould, Toronto.

SAYAMA, Japan — A Japanese businessman was on his way to an important appointment near here recently when his car became mired in one of Japan's innumerable traffic jams. Minute after minute ticked by. Finally, the impatient man abandoned his car and driver and scrambled across the street to a subway.

He just made his appointment. But the incident symbolized, in an odd sort of way, the amazing success of that same businessman — Soichiro Honda, the 71-year-old son of a bicycle repairman, whose independence, flair, technical skills and unconventional management philosophies have carried his name into almost every corner of the world on 24 million motorbikes.

Now with the same singular and successful concentration that made this unusual company the world's No. 1 motorcycle maker, Japan's Honda Corporation is making cars and marketing them around the world — expecially in the United States, where its gasoline-sipping Civic and Accord models are enjoying mushrooming sales.

'Modest Goal'

"We're not trying to be a General Motors," Toshio Sasaki, Honda's foreign sales manager said. "Our modest goal is simply to become the No. 1 selling foreign car in the United States." The concern achieved that goal in Canada early last year. In the United States, Honda expects to pass Volkswagen sales this year, turning the top three foreign sellers into an all-Japanese trio — Datsun, Toyota and Honda.

Achieving such supremacy in the competitive American market will be difficult. But then few things have been easy for Mr. Honda, a college dropout who built a bombed-out machine shop into an international giant with net revenues of more than $995 million and 28,000 employees in 38 plants in 29 nations.

Almost single-handedly in developed countries he has changed the motorcycle image from one associated with the black-leather-jacket set to one of a leisure-time sport of the middle class. (You meet the nicest people on a Honda.") In poorer lands his motor bikes have brought cheap transportation within reach of impoverished millions.

Like many of Honda's successes, the product grew from a personal experience. "I happened on the idea of fitting an engine to a bicycle," Mr. Honda once remarked, "simply because I did not want to ride the incredibly crowded trains and buses byself."

The early postwar days were so lean in Japan that Mr. Honda once carried a number of heavy motorcycle parts in his clothing on an airplane ride because he could not afford excess-baggage charges.

With the financial expertise of his little-known close friend Takeo Fujisawa, he was able to weather many potentially fatal fiscal and management situations. Mr. Honda, who has relinquished the presidency to his hand-picked successor, Kiyoshi Kawashima, prefers shop to office work and once worked in the grease pits. He expecially likes research, where his mechanical inventiveness and democratic approach have earned him a reputation as a curious manager. Mr. Kawashima also once worked in the shop and still goes there to test every model motorcycle produced and check research.

The company has no time for the old school ties that bind Japan's closeknit business communities. Creativity and energy, not seniority, determine promotions at Honda, where formal education matters little. The employees, whose average age is 27, praise these policies. One, Toshio Ashizawa, an ex-assembly line worker, now works in public relations where he can use the English he learned on his own.

Recalling the time as a teenager that he attempted to improve the nose on a neighbor's Buddha and instead accidentally chiseled it off, only to land in trouble, Mr. Honda commented: "But at least I learned how not to do it. Others never try."

The sounds and smells of engines have always excited Mr. Honda. As a result, his company, for which American depository receipts began trading on the New York Stock Exchange Feb. 11, makes motorbikes, motorcycles, generators and engine parts. Honda also runs amusement parks (with rides powered by guess-whose motors), an airport and a fleet of five ships (motorized) to carry Honda cars to North America. On the return trip the ships carry grain for the Honda cattle company.

"All the good names like Cougar and Wildcat were taken," when Honda began producing cars in 1962, said Mr. Sasaki. "We had to settle for Civic and Accord."

Cut Pollution

One way a brash newcomer could make its mark quickly was to produce a car that caused less pollution, and Honda did so, not with expensive unproven equipment like catalytic converters but by designing a more efficient engine whose exhaust gases didn't need such cleaning in the first place.

Honda's four-cylinder C.V.C.C. engine, a model of which stands bathed in spotlights in the lobby of Honda headquarters, has been ranked first in cleanliness by the United States Environmental Protection Agency for three years straight. Other producers are quietly buying the Honda technology.

The engine produces 44 miles per gallon in the tiny Honda Civic, which retails in the United States for $2,729, and 42 in the hatchback Accord, which retails for a bit over $4,000 with radio and radial tires. But the Accord, which arrived in the United States only last June, has been so popular that some of Honda's 600 American dealers have sold them for up to $800 above the sticker price, and there is a six-month backlog of orders.

Honda, which has American headquarters in Gardena, Calif., last year sold 155,000 cars in the United States, substantially up from the previous year's 102,000 and the 1,387 sold in 1970, Honda's first year in America. This year Honda expects to sell up to 200,000 cars and 400,000 motorcycles in the states. This compares with Toyota's 1976 sales of 347,000 cars and Volkswagen's 201,000. Honda is also active in European markets.

In the powerful Japanese automobile industry, which employs 1.3 million persons and exports 3.7 million vehicles a year to make Japan the world's leading auto exporter, Honda ranks fourth in passenger car production and is closing in on third-place Mazda. Harmonious labor relations and newer plants help Honda's efficiency.

Many Benefits

Every month the 4,200 workers at the sprawling Honda factory here, 35 miles north of Tokyo, turn out 3,000 motorcycles and 24,000 cars, half for export, during their two-shift, five-day week. Much here typifies modern Japan's industrial world, but more seems radically different.

Like most Japanese workers, Takashi Kinuta and other Honda employees, who earn an average of $700 per month, receive an array of benefits; insurance, free company gym and family swimming pool using recycled industrial water, half-price lunches, paid commuting costs, dormitory rooms for $8.60 a month, cheap 6 per cent housing loans and extended interest-free installment plans to buy Honda products.

But a detailed democratic drive rises above the norm here. No fence surrounds the 95-acre facility. "We want no isolation from our neighbors and customers," says Hideo Ikegami, who like all Honda plant managers has no separate office to isolate him from other workers.

All Honda factory employees wear free white uniforms, which not only eliminate blue and white collar distinctions but also encourage the cleanliness that is a Honda passion.

Employee suggestions are encouraged through money and travel incentives. If an idea leads to a new patent, it is registered in the worker's name. Mr. Honda holds 360 of his own. The company finances a regular Idea Contest, and although many of the ideas never lead to a new product, "that's not the point," President Kawashima said in a rare joint interview with Mr. Honda. "The Idea Contest is a mental exercise to sharpen people's minds."

"We want to know our own products and our competition," said Mr. Honda, who one day fumbled with a handful of change while trying to drive, roll down a car window and pay an expressway toll. The result: Honda cars with an inset dashboard coin box with a cover and a slanted bottom to ease coin pickup.

Honda engineers have also produced such innovations as an automatic welding machine that makes 130 welds in each Honda car in 20 seconds, a task that formerly took 30 persons 10 minutes. But Komei Amano, Chairman of the Honda Workers Union local, filed no complaint because there are more new Honda jobs than applicants, and Honda guarantees every worker a lifetime salary.

This helps lead to fierce employee dedication, and turnover is only 6 per-cent annually.

"It is our spirit that is different," says Mr. Honda, who favors longer hair and louder socks that most Japanese businessmen. "We believe everyone in the company has equal importance from the newest worker to the president."

Retired Early

That belief is one reason Mr. Honda retired from the presidency three years ago at an age when many of Japan's coprorate leaders are just assuming the top job.

Mr. Honda is now a director, major stockholder and self-appointed spokesman to youth groups for self-reliance, hard work, respect for parents and safe driving.

"I'm not concerned with making money anymore," he says, having made far more than most Japanese in the postwar era. "You see, a life is like an airplane journey. No mater how good the takeoff, no matter how good the takeoff, no you have a crash landing then jt was all for nothing. I am coming in for the landing now. The important part of my life is just beginning."

The Designated Tax Dollar

By SCOTT YOUNG
The Globe and Mail

The Revenue Department's survey of taxpayers about a tax guide that is supposed to help people making out their own income tax returns missed at least one essential point. "What I want to know when I get to the bottom line of what I've paid or have to pay, is where the money is going to be spent," my source for this opinion said.

"There should be a line in there somewhere so that I could specify where the money will be spent. I look on the whole thing as a super charity. What I give to charity goes through the employees' fund where I work, and when I sign the form I get the chance to make a choice. I can write in, 'Give it to the Salvation Army', or 'Give it to anybody but the Salvation Army.' That way I can pick: Children's Aid, Big Brothers, whoever. When I get to the botton line on the tax form my mind bugs hell out of me. I think of my hard-earned money going to buy jet fuel for Otto Lang's airplanes.

"I had a horrible turn this year when I thought Fitness Minister Iona Campagnolo might use it to build a ski hill at Brandon. I read that Keith Spicer is getting $53,000 a year as language commissioner and, okay, I wouldn't mind helping Spicer out, but at that price? I don't want a damn nickel to go to buy green uniforms for sea cadets.

"Also, suppose you'd paid exactly $13,972 in income tax by working like a dog, nights, weekends and whatever. You pick up the paper — and that's exactly what some nitwit in External Affairs spent to make a movie of the minister, Don Jamieson, that he could send around as a Christmas card! And why should my money be spent to transport the whole deleted cabinet to Toronto for a meeting they would have had in Ottawa if it hadn't been a ruse to get the public to pay their way to Toronto so they could go to a dinner for Mitchell Sharp!"

The woman has a point. If the income tax form gave taxpayers the right to withhold their money from public things they didn't like (as Joan Baez did in the U.S. when the Vietnam war was her issue), and designate what they did like, wouldn't that be the ultimate in democracy?

The defence department would perish The Olympic debt would be paid in full. Otto Lang would travel by bus. John Diefenbaker would be up to his armpits in free engraved copies of the Bill of Rights. Abortion clinics would buy Union Station, and pay cash. The Senate would either close down or become self-supporting, through knitting tea-cosies. Eugene Whelan, solidly supported by farmers, would be the only minister in Ottawa with a limousine bigger than a Honda.

Better still, every springtime would be like a whole new election campaign. Ministers would be hustling all over the country, competing for public favor. "What is it the Secretary of State does?" would be the question on many lips, and the Secretary of State would have to come up with an answer, or go on the pogey.

When you filter the idea through the whole cabinet, the whole wild structure of departments and boards and commissions and committees we pay for, like it or not, the essential beauty comes through. We'd be free, self-determining, happy people — and if we blew something, we'd have only ourselves to blame. We'd be the wonder of the world.

Radio Beam Shuts Off Heaters

By EDWARD CLIFFORD
The Globe and Mail

Ontario Hydro will soon begin experiments with perhaps the lowest-cost electric power demand regulator yet devised — inaudible AM radio signals that will turn home water heaters on and off.

In a trial involving 20 homes in the Toronto area, the codes will be superimposed on the broadcast signal of radio station CBL. Tiny receivers mounted on water heaters in homes throughout the area will pick up the signals and turn the water heaters on and off.

The purpose would be to reduce electric power consumption in selected areas in times of heavy power demand. It is estimated that extensive use of such controls could reduce demand by up to 900 megawatts — nearly half the output of the Pickering nuclear generating station.

The trials will begin in May. They will be extended in 1978 to cover 200 residential customers. Depending on the results, hydro believes the water heaters in several hundred thousand homes could be radio-controlled by 1980.

In mass production, the combination radio receiver and off-on relay could be built and installed at a cost of about $75 per home.

This is about half the cost of a number of other devices being used or under study in Ontario and other jurisdictions. Eventually it is expected that other heavy power users — outdoor signs and air conditioners, for example — could be similarly controlled.

The interruption of water heaters in times of heavy power demand is not a new practice. Homes in Toronto, Scarborough and Etobicoke with electric water heaters are under such controls now. These are manual systems which require that a home's water heater be wired separately from normal house circuits, and served by a separate utility wire.

With the radio control, the water heater could be included in the regular house circuit.

Harold West, manager of the load management section of Ontario Hydro's energy conservation division, said the system has the flexibility to provide controls on a neighborhood-to-neighborhood basis.

As many as 32 inaudible codes could be broadcast by a radio station such as CBL without a radio listener being aware of them. Given the number of Toronto AM radio stations, 200 or more separate areas could be controlled in this way.

During the trial periods, the radio system will be operated manually.

In its final flowering, however, it would be operated by a computer capable of reading demand levels and making decisions as to where water heaters should be turned of, much as computers now regulate traffic signals.

The system is used nowhere else in the world, as far as Ontario Hydro knows, although a Detroit utility does operate its own VHF broadcasting station to do essentially the same job.

The advantage of AM is that stations usually are more powerful and can cover a wider area, the multiplicity of stations provides more flexibility, and AM receivers are cheaper. Besides, the air waves are crowded enough now, West said.

Hydro research has showed so far that cable TV and telephone networks could be used to carry signals, but would also require more development work and be more expensive.

With the AM radio station system, hardly a hydro customer in Ontario could not be reached by signals. This means loads could be switched off either in geographic blocks or on a widely dispersed random basis.

A Note From Mr. Autopen

By JONATHAN STEELE
Manchester Guardian

WASHINGTON — Every day, in some corner of this country, you can be sure that a little boy or girl is sitting down and painstakingly writing, rubbing out, and rewriting a letter to President Carter.

It may be to tell him that Miss Lillian looks just like their own grannie, or that nine-year-old Amy Carter is great, or that so is her Siamese kitten. It may be to ask Mr. President to please one day come down and visit our home town.

But, when the envelope is delivered to the White House a different world of fantasy is waiting. Unless Mr. Carter changes the system which he has inherited from his predecessors, the letter will promptly be swallowed up by the hard world of presidential public relations. One of 20 "mail analysts" will check through their index of correspondence codes. There, on the list is P-814, the stock category for "chatty letters from children."

The letter will then be dispatched to the robotype room in the Executive Office Building, opposite the White House, where a computerized message — the same one that all P-814s get — is ready to be punched out by one of the 12 MTSTs (magnetic tape selectric typewriters). The finished answer is clipped under the "autopen" which neatly produces an almost perfect facsimile of Jimmy Carter's signature.

It is good enough to fool most children. Even adults are sometimes misled into thinking they have held the attention of the world's most powerful man for a minute. A favorite aunt is seriously ill in hospital. Relatives may write to the president asking him to boost her morale by sending a personal message.

The robotype room and the autopen will then crank out PR-70, a signed letter letting the old dear know that "you have our prayers and warm wishes always." The widow of a policeman killed on duty is sent a PD. This is a letter which says: "May God give you strength to bear the burden of your loss." It is signed "sincerely" and concludes with another mechanical flourish of the automated presidential pen. The system of fake letters has grown enormously and some officials are complaining it has got out of hand. In President Kennedy's day there were four robotype machines. By Lyndon Johnson's time the annual peak of autopen signatures was 10,000. Last year, Mr. Ford's signatures was simulated on 191,578 letters. "We are trapped by our own system. It cheapens the presidency," one veteran staff member commented.

Carter's eager new lieutenants were equally appalled to discover the correspondence production line. Mindful of Carter's inaugural address — "to be true to ourselves, we must be true to others" — they want him to scrap the robotype room.

One of the first decisions Carter had to make when he took over in January was whether to have his signature put on the autopen. At first he refused. A few days later, when the mail began to pile up and his wrist ached Carter gave in. In a victory for continuity the autopen was reprieved. Carter has still to decide what to do about the whole system of coded replies to the American people. His staff are urging him to preserve an open Administration, and to maintain as much communication with the public as possible. Only last week the White House announced the dispatch of 300,000 letters to citizens, selected at random from the census lists, asking for their comments on Carter's energy policy.

At the same time Carter is being pressed to end the charade of the fake personal letter, part of the same mentality which produced the institutionalized deception of Watergate.

After all, he is being reminded by veteran White House officials, the system of coded replies is not just phoney — it is sometimes fallible. In 1973, a Vietnam war widow wrote to the White house pleading for an end to the senseless war in Southeast Asia. Back came the presidential answer, "Thank you for your support of the Honourable Spiro T. Agnew."

Canada's great debate could be called The Third Option, if three hours of panel discussions Sunday on the CBC's French and English television networks were any indication of how citizens coast-to-coast view the question of Quebec independence.

As the program entitled An Uncertain Country wound to a close, most contributors seemed to show little sympathy either for the current style of federalism or for Quebec separatism.

The moderators, panelists and guests from six provinces appearing on the show were all fluently bilingual. They included former politicfans, economists, journalists, union representatives, businessmen and teachers.

Debate, which ran for an hour and a half on the CBC English network, then for 90 minutes later in the evening on French language Radio-Canada, was lively and touched most of the same basic issues on both networks.

The majority of panelists seemed to agree that while Confederation is in need of revision, Quebec's separation would solve neither its own problems nor those of the rest of Canada.

Many felt events since the Nov. 15 election of the Parti Quebecois had tended to cloud issues that are considered of paramount importance on regional levels elsewhere in the country.

Yet another point was that while Rene Levesque may feel his government's stand is clear on political independence followed by economic association with the rest of Canada, many Canadians are unsure what kind of relationship the Parti Quebecois seeks with the rest of the country.

Most of the guests agreed that a third option between today's Confederation and Quebec independence must be found, but nobody could say exactly what it should be.

But they agreed that any solution must not only answer Quebec's special needs, but also end what Westerners, Maritimers, Indians and other Canadians view as unfair treatment within the federal system.

Several guests agreed with David Lewis, former leader of the New Democratic Party, when he said a referendum on independence would prove nothing unless Quebecers voted 100 per cent in favor of either separation or remaining within Canada.

Jean-Paul L'Allier, former minister in the defeated Bourassa government, thought a third option must not be "just rearrangement of the constitution as we know it today . . .

"If Quebecers have the choice between the status quo —or minor rearrangements of the status quo—and independence . . . I believe they would choose independence."

Vancouver journalist Harvey Oberfeld, who has just finished a tour of Quebec, said: "The people of Quebec have to start realizing that there are 10 provinces in Canada. We all have problems and if they want us to co-operate with them in solving their problems, they have to be willing to take an interest in our problems."

Adanis Obomsawin, a Canadian Indian and National Film Board producer, noted that Indians "have been ignored by the French and English people for a very long time and we still are."

"We have been put away by every bloody government in each province . . . it's a very unhappy way to be."

Marine Industries president Laurent Picard, a former CBC president, said any solution to Quebec-Canada relations "can't be a fight for power . . ."

RCMP FREEDOM WORRIED TORY

FREDERICTON (CP) — The Atlantic Television network (ATV) says it has learned that the RCMP, investigating any alleged kickback scheme in New Brunswick, discovered a letter in which concern was expressed about police activities.

ATV said in a weekend news broadcast that the one-page letter was allegedly written by a top provincial Progressive Conservative party representative in Fredericton and sent to Premier Richard Hatfield's office.

The network says its source described the writer as a powerful figure in the Conservative party who was critical of the deputy minister of justice.

Quebec-Canada Team: No Political Role Vow

QUEBEC (CP) — Michel Gratton, Liberal member of and founder of the pro-the Quebec national assembly federalist Quebec-Canada Movement, says he has no desire to build his movement into a permanent political force.

Nor does he conceive of the group as a springboard to advance his own career within the Liberal party, says the 38-year-old member for Gatineau.

In a recent interview with The Canadian Press, Gratton said he wants to step down soon to make way for a "spokesman with prestige, but non-partisan."

He will resign as leader of the group, launched to combat the Parti Quebecois in the forthcoming referendum on Quebec independence, as soon as the Quebec-Canada Movement's organization is complete. That may be within a month, Gratton said.

"As soon as the referendum on separatism has been defeated, the Quebec - Canada Movement will cease to exist," he said.

Gratton feels the fragmentation of the federalist vote among the Liberals, the Union Nationale and other parties was a major factor in the PQ's winning 71 seats last fall with just 41 per cent of the popular vote. Creating more parties would only further fragment the vote in the next general election, he said.

The fear of fragmentation also played a role in a recent merger which saw the Quebec-Canada movement absorb Team Canada, a group formed by former policeman George Springate, Liberal assembly member for Montreal's affluent Westmount riding.

One of the guiding principles of the movement is its independence from political parties, he said.

Among the founding members were Gratton and the Union National candidate he defeated in Gatineau in the last election, Jacques Crepeault.

At least five Liberal assembly members have joined the ranks, and Gratton says a number of Union Nationale members have also expressed interest.

Common Front Proposed

QUEBEC (CP) — The Ralliement Creditiste, which received just 4.5 per cent of the popular vote in last November's provincial election, will attempt to start a common front of political organizations against separatism and socialism.

Creditiste leader Camil Samson, the party's only sitting member in the Quebec national assembly, said Sunday his first step would be to approach Jerome Choquette, leader of the Popular National Party.

The PNP also elected only one member last November.

Broadbent Raps 'Dangerous' Plans

OTTAWA (CP) — Ed Broadbent, federal New Democratic Party leader, said Sunday the Progressive Conservative proposals to turn back health, welfare and education programs to the provinces are dangerous to federalism.

In an outline of his party's position on national unity, Broadbent said the Trudeau government "quietly and dangerously" is implementing the Conservative approach and predicted a major dissension across the country within five years if the trend continues. He also predicted Quebec will be swallowed by the United States within 25 years if it separates from Canada. Separation would leave Quebec as an "island" in an English-speaking sea.

He delivered a prepared speech to the party's 130-member federal council as it concluded a policy meeting Sunday in advance of the NDP's June 30-July 3 convention in Winnipeg.

In his speech, he said national programs are essential to "a common sense of nationhood, a feeling that Ottawa cares and is important in our lives."

To decentralize economic power would strengthen the rich provinces, weaken the poor, broaden the gap between east and west, and lessen English Canada's capacity to understand and accept change in Quebec.

"To turn medicare, hospitalization and university education back exclusively to the provinces, which are unequal in resources, is exactly the same as saying the rich and poor in Canada have the same legal right to buy a Cadillac."

But, he said, the federal government recently had transferred 13.5 tax points to the provinces, meaning a bonanza for Ontario worth $1 billion more than that which any other province received. A tax point was worth $10 per capital in Ontario and $4 in Prince Edward Island.

"The NDP flatly rejects this Tory approach to federalism so quietly and dangerously being implemented by the Liberals." He said rigid application of national programs on a uniform basis is a major source of conflict and tension in Trudeau's federalism.

To meet varying regional needs, the provinces might be allowed to implement policy at the local level under broad guidelines. "Honest decentralized administration" was a solution.

Just JDL Rhetoric Violent at Protest

WASHINGTON (WP) — Vowing to uphold "Jewish honor and Jewish pride," 125 chanting, shouting supporters of the militant Jewish Defence League demonstrated for two hours Sunday in front of the headquarters of Hanafi Muslims who 10 days ago held scores of Jewish hostages at gunpoint.

While the rhetoric was violent, the demonstration was peaceful and ended without incident as a large, helmeted JDL contingent from New York City singing in Hebrew and shouting "Never Again" boarded buses for home.

As many as 60 policemen armed with riot sticks and gas masks stood in line along 16th Street facing the demonstrators and keeping them to the curb opposite the Hanafi headquarters, were two Hanafi sentinels wearing olive-drab plastic rain capes and carrying long sheathed swords paced back and forth.

"Meet the real Jews!" shouted Rabbi Meir Kahane, the JDL founder who came to Washington for the protest. Surrounded by black-helmeted JDL lieutenants waving placards and carrying baseball bats, Kahane gestured at the Hanafi headquarters and declared that Hanafi leader Hamaas Abdul Khaalis is "on our list. Never will he walk these streets safely again."

Kahane said the small (local) turnout was "a disgrace and it is humiliating to us there aren't 50,000 Jews here."

Including reporters and spectators, about 250 in all turned up for the demonstration in a cold, drizzling rain across the street from the Hanafi headquarters.

Khaalis, who 10 days ago led 10 gunmen in seizing 134 hostages in three Washington locations, including the downtown B'nai B'rith Jewish service organization, stayed inside the house, according to Washington Police Chief Maurice Cullinane.

While the Hanafi siege had been aimed chiefly against the rival Black Muslim sect, there was considerable anti-Jewish rhetoric by the Hanafis and the gunmen beat and pistol-whipped Jews at B'nai B'rith and insulted them verbally.

DENTISTS OPPOSE SACCHARIN BAN

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Dental Association said today the U.S. government's proposal to ban saccharin is "woefully inappropriate" because a non-sugar sweetner is of "considerable importance to the dental health of this nation."

The ADA, headquartered in Chicago, issued a statement on behalf of its 127,000 members expressing concern with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's proposal to ban saccharin.

The FDA proposed the ban after finding evidence it causes cancer in mice.

"The association understands that current interpretations of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act . . . require banning of agents found to induce cancer . . . but it seems both questionable and woefully inappropriate to apply this amendment to saccharin when some 80 years of use in humans has never resulted in establishing a cause and effect relationship between saccharin and cancer," the ADA said.

"There is considerable evidence in the scientific literature . . . which indicates that the frequent intake of sweetened foods and beverages . . . contributes significantly to the development of dental decay.

Brain Atrophy from Pot Denied by Researchers

CHICAGO (AP) — There is no evidence that heavy marijuana smoking changes the structure of the brain or central nervous system, two research groups conclude, despite earlier evidence that part of the brain wasted away under prolonged smoking.

The new studies, carried out independently, are reported in the March 21 issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

In 1971, Lancet, a British medical journal, reported that researchers testing 10 young men who were heavy users of marijuana found evidence of atrophy in the brain.

The British study, conducted by Dr. A. M. G. Campbell of Bristol Royal United Hospitals and his colleagues, was done with an x-ray technique involving injection of air or gas to outline portions of the brain.

The new studies involved a recently developed x-ray technique in which no gas injection is needed to outline sections of the brain as the head is scanned.

One was conducted by Dr. Ben Co of the Washington University school of medicine in St. Louis, and by Dr. Donald Goodwin, of the University of Kansas school of medicine in Kansas City, Kan., and their colleagues.

Co and Goodwin said their study showed that "young men with extensive exposure to cannabis (marijuana) over a number of years do not necessarily show evidence of cerebral atrophy."

That statement was echoed by a team of Harvard medical school researchers headed by Dr. John Kuehnle who carried out the second study.

Small Win In Court For Alyeska

ANCHORAGE (AP) — Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. has won at least a temporary victory in its battle with the Alaska Pipeline Commission over investigations of cost overruns on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

An Anchorage judge ruled that Alyeska lawyers may be present during commission interviews of pipeline contractors that were scheduled to begin today.

He said he would make a formal decision later this week on Alyeska's request to have lawyers present at all such interviews.

The commission opposes this request.

Alyeska — the consortium of oil companies building the $8 billion pipeline — failed to comply with a deadline of last Friday for submission of documents sought by the commission.

Instead, Alyeska asked the commission to reconsider whether it had the authority to issue subpoenas.

Commissioner Bob Breeze said the commission would consider the request over the weekend and then announce whether it would enforce the subpoenas. If the subpoenas are upheld, the information would be due this afternoon.

The state commission is investigating the cost of construction of the pipeline to make certain that the pipeline-owner companies are not allowed to recoup unnecessary costs by charging a high rate for the use of the pipeline.

SOVIETS 'ARMING'

WASHINGTON (WP)—Central Intelligence Agency director Stansfield Turner said Sunday he believes the Russians are trying to compensate for economic and other weaknesses by building a powerful military force.

"I believe the Soviets think in 19th century power terms," Turner said in a nationally televised interview.

"I think they're trying to compensate for their other weaknesses—economic, ideological and political—by building a military force that they hope will weigh in the balance for them," he said.

The CIA director, appearing on Face the Nation, said he thinks the U.S.-Soviet military balance "is gradually eroding toward the Soviet side."

But he quickly added that he U.S. "Can and will be able to redress that" potential imbalance "because the people of the United States are perceiving this need."

Turner, differing with others who have expressed concern about a possible Soviet military superiority over, or equivalency with, this country—said he does not believe the U.S. needs a massive new military program to meet the Soviet challenge.

Virus Caused Illness Aboard Alaska Flight

ANCHORAGE (AP) — The outbreak of flu-like illness that struck about 21 persons aboard a Wien Air Alaska flight has been traced to a woman passenger, a health official said Sunday.

Dr. Michael Moser of the public health service's centre for disease control, who refused to identify the woman, said officials have ruled out any connection between the outbreak and a mechanical problem on the Anchorage-Homer-Kodiak flight.

There had been speculation that fumes from the engine could have entered the cabin, and been responsible for the outbreak.

Moser said the woman, who boarded Wien Flight 121 in Homer, became ill during the flight and the infection was transmitted to the other passengers.

"We do have a severe respiratory illeness that is making the rounds of the Kenai Peninsula, but they've had them before and they undoubtedly will have them again.

"I would characterize it as probably a viral illness," he said.

He said doctors were handling the problem, and that "the people who have gotten it are getting better."

Bodies Identified

HONOLULU (AP) — U.S. Army medical specialist are working to confirm indentifications of 12 airmen, killed during the Vietnam war, whose bodies were returned to the United States during the weekend. Laboratory chief John Rogers said Sunday that, after positive identification, remains will be sent to an army mortuary in Oakland, Calif., for final preparation before they are sent to funeral directors chosen by the families.

FBI Hunts Fraud

WASHINGTON (WP) — Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano said Sunday he has asked for FBI assistance in his department's investigation into Medicare and Medicaid fraud.

"I've talked with Attorney General (Griffin B.) Bel in the last few days, and we're going to put FBI agents full blast into the Medicare and Medicaid fraud investigations until we can get our office of investigations in HEW up to full speed," Califano said in a television interview.

Califano said his department has combined the Medicare and Medicaid investigations "in order to give us a better opportunity to root out fraud."

"I've also strongly and personally gone to Capital Hill to support legislation to make it a, felony to steal people's money" through welfare fraud, Califano said.

Study Rejects N-Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States should change its official thinking about nuclear energy and realize it is unlikely to become a crucial power source until well into the 21st century, a committee of leading scientists and economists said today.

In a major new nuclear power study financed by the Ford Foundation, the independent committee urged a de-emphasis on civilian use of plutonium and said the U.S. should realize "that the world is not running out of energy."

In its 418-page report, the Nuclear Energy Policy Study Group said:

—President Carter should postpone indefinitely plans for reprocessing plutonium from spent reactor fuel because the material can be diverted too easily for use in atomic weapons.

—Development of the controversial $12-billion plutonium breeder-reactor program should be postponed and a prototype model to be constructed at Clinch River, Tenn., should be abandoned entirely.

—Strengthened security is necessary at nuclear power plants because current safeguards do not appear adequate to meet the potential threats of terrorism.

—The government should retain control of uranium-enrichment technology rather than sharing it with private industry, as former administrations have advocated.

—Because supplies of uranium and other energy sources are greater than is realized, the government should drop plans for recycling spent nuclear fuel and should bury waste in permanent deep-storage sites.

The report said gas and oil, although declining in supply, will continue to be the largest energy sources for the U.S. through the end of the century. Beyond that time, coal will become the dominant fuel.

Widowers Lose Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court overturned a federal court decision today that could have cost the federal government more than $17.5 billion and provided more money each month to nine million retired men receiving social security benefits.

In an unsigned opinion, the court reversed a ruling by a New York federal court that a 1972 amendment to the Social Security Act banning sex discrimination in benefits must be applied retroactively.

Will Webster of Northport, N.Y., began the legal action in 1974 when he turned 65 and discovered that, even though Congress two years earlier had outlawed differences in social security benefits based on sex, he could have been collecting $18.30 more each month if he were a woman.

Congress may replace one benefits formula with another without making it retroactive, the high court said. The fact that Congress changed its mind in 1972 and equalized the treatment of men and women did not constitute an admission by Congress that its previous policy had been discriminatory.

Relations Severed

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Spanish republican government in exile has announced it has severed relations with the Mexican government in order to establish diplomatic ties between Mexico and the Madrid regime of King Juan Carlos. The announcement was made by Jose Maldonado, president of the Spanish republican government in exile, at a news conference in the Mexican president's residence at Los Pinos.

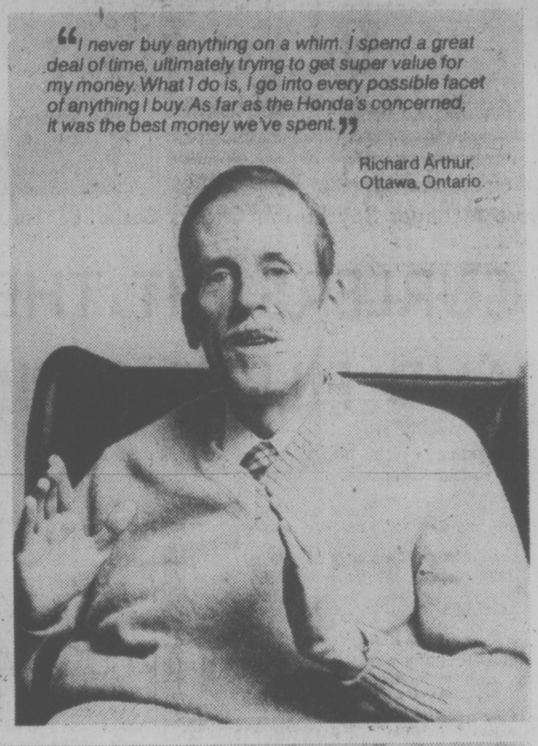
"I went to the dealer many, many times. And looked at the cars many, many times before finally bought one. I was very impressed with the car. It's design, the price, independent suspension, vacuum assist disc brakes. You don't get those things usually in a car at that price."
Ian Hamilton, Arthur, Ontario.



"I never buy anything on a whim. I spend a great deal of time, ultimately trying to get super value for my money. What I do is, I go into every possible facet of anything I buy. As far as the Honda's concerned, it was the best money we've spent."
Richard Arthur, Ottawa, Ontario.

"It's like a sports car in many ways. Handling. Being relatively low to the ground. The seating configuration. Very direct steering. It's as responsive as a sports car. It's never dull."
Mike Froislie, Ottawa, Ontario.

"Our 17-year-old daughter was starting to drive and we felt for 3 people, it was an ideal car. And most of the time just one of us was driving it. So we don't need a large car."
Teena Andrichuk, Burnaby, British Columbia.

"One of the reasons I would consider buying another one would be I can get a real good price for my '75 because it didn't depreciate in value too much as compared to other cars. And I can afford to buy a new one in another year or so and not really loose that much money on it."
Bill Andrichuk, Burnaby, British Columbia.

You'll rarely see them at a Honda dealer. And they don't get a nickel's worth of commission. These folks already own a Honda.

Nearly all these Honda owners have been asked how they liked their car by complete strangers. And they can't help being super enthusiastic.

The Honda salesmen are polite and informed, confident that the selling job after the test drive will be done by the most persuasive person you know. You.

CURLERS HIT THE BROOM AND FILL THE 'FINES BOX'

About 50 Islanders went curling Sunday so that others may swim . . . or skate . . . or cook . . . or go shopping . . . or even curl.

Employees of Butler La Farge, the Butler group of companies, their families and others went on a mini-curling bonspiel to Nanaimo

And if that sounds like fun, it was. But better still, the group under store manager Roy Burton of Butler La Farge, raised money for the Victoria Association for the Recreation of the Handicapped.

"That was the best part of it," said Burton, who is also Commissioner of the Western Lacrosse Association.

"We had a fines box, and it's heavy. I haven't opened it yet, but I can say the sum we raised was consuiderable.

"We fined everybody for just about everything . . . not having their curling pins . . . not having them in a conspicuous position . . . not having proper curling shoes . . . throwing the wrong rock . . . blank ends . . . talking to the other skip . . . You name it. We also had raffles and everybody joined in and supported the cause."

"I think it's a great job the Handicapped Recreation Society is doing," Burton said. "And I'm just sorry we couldn't have done more. But every little bit helps and I encourage other groups who, if they have something similar to a curling junket planned, to join the crowd and give these people a hand."

There are several programs for the handicapped and most are carried out by volunteers. But there are the nominal costs — transportation, drivers, some paid workers, etc.

The idea is to get the handicapped out . . . to the pool . . . to the rink . . . to go shopping, which is every person's right.

They like to have fun too. Just as Burton, his group and Nanaimo Butler La Farge employees did on Sunday.

"Roy Hogan won the bonspiel," said Burton. "Maybe I should fine him for that. I think I will. When you come to think of it there's so much that can be done. Roy, you're fined by the authority of the commissioner."

Bays Equal Record With Fifth Victory

VANCOUVER — Oak Bay Bays' record equalling victory in the 1977 British Columbia high school boys' basketball championship Saturday came as no surprise.

Ranked as the province's top team through most of the season, there really wasn't much to question about Oak Bay's direction. Don Horwood's talented aggregation reached the ultimate goal with a methodical 75-64 victory over Princess Margaret Lions of Surrey in Saturday's showdown.

In the absence of questions about Oak Bay's 1977 team observers turned to ask one about next season: Is it going to be the same story?

If could be. The disciplined and poised Bays will lose only three players to graduation. Winding up their high school campaigns Saturday were the brilliant Craig Higgins, Tom Sinnott and Rick Hatchman.

The rest, including Ken Kirzinger, most valuable player in this year's tournament, all are scheduled to return.

One would have to suspect, then, that Kirzinger, Wayne Andrews, Kelly Dukeshire, Grant Boland, et al, are going to help Oak Bay dominate the high school scene next season in much the manner they handled this one.

They wound up with a 36-7 won-lost record, with five of the losses administered by out-of-province teams.

They were clearly B.C.'s best although Princess Margaret did — briefly — threaten to dispute that Saturday. Not having met, the Lions surprised Oak Bay by charging to an early 11-point lead.

Oak Bay's man-to-man defence wasn't the thing to tame the Lions. Horwood called time. "Go to a one-three-one zone," he told his troops. They did and emerged with the lead, 32-31, at the half.

Oak Bay never looked back.

With Kirzinger, Higgins and rookie Wayne Andrews pouring in the points, the Bays went on to claim the B.C. title for the fifth time in 13 years.

No 5, it turns out, equals Vancouver College's record for most victories in the 32-year history of the tournament.

Kirzinger picked off 15 rebounds and hit on 13 of 15 field goal attempts, a remarkable 87 per cent success, to finish with 30 points.

Higgins, the floor general, hit on 11 of 15 (73 per cent) and closed with 28 points.

Andrews, also tough on defence, contributed 13 points.

Higgins finished with 96 points in four games (for an average of 24) while Kirzinger scored 92. Apart from scoring, they played different roles for Horwood. The six-five Kirzinger was big in rebounding and tending to the inside scoring.

Higgins called the signals and threw most of his baskets from outside.

Both were outstanding, and that made the MVP choice a most dificult one. The voters finally fingered Kirzinger.

Both were obvious choices for the all-star team, along with Hari Sihota of Princess Margaret, J. C. Kootenkoff of Burnaby South Rebels and Ian McKinnon of Vancouver College.

A grade 11 student and an all-star in last year's tournament, Kirzinger is the sixth Oak Bay player to claim the MVP award. The others were Bob Burrows, Brian MacKenzie, Dave Morgan, Tom Holmes and Chris Trumpy.

Nanaimo's Mike Montgomery was a runnerup in the all-star balloting and Andrews won honorable mention.

Vancouver College defeated Kelowna Owls 57-51 to take third place while Nanaimo finished fifth by tripping Burnaby South 95-87. Rutland Voodoos defeated Mission Roadrunners 86-73 to finish seventh.

Kootenekoff emerged as the scoring standout by breaking three records. He scored 136 points and hit on 61 field goals to better marks (125 and 54) established last year by Howard Kelsey of Point Grey Greyhounds.

In addition, Kootnekoff also scored 22 field goals in a single game to beat the record (21) formerly held by Abbotsford's Sam Vandermuelen.

CONSOLATION ROUND

BURNABY SOUTH (87) — Lyle Robinson 11, Len Blake 8, Bill McCarthy 4, Cal Wirch 12, Darwin Webber 4, Vic Posplech 4, Steve Turney 10, Dennis Bohme, Mick Rukus, J. C. Kootnekoff 32, Steve Glover, Mike McMillin 2.

Stenmark Clinches World Cup Honors

AARE, Sweden (Reuter) — Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden made sure of retaining the World Cup skiing title when he won the slalom Sunday.

His nearest rival, Austrian Klaus Heidegger, who tied for fifth with Italian Piero Gros Sunday, now is 62 points behind Stenmark's 289 total and cannot overhaul the Swede in the remaining competitions this year.

Stenmark's World Cup victory was his 19th, one more than former French star Jean Claude Killy, though Stenmark needed more races to pass the Frenchman's record.

Stenmark swung too far out over the first 65-gate course but in a fiercely concentrated second run through a 69-gate course he clinched victory.

"It was not up to World Cup standard, not demanding. The second course was more difficult with more gates but gave me no problems."

The first course was disastrous for Heidegger with its sharp changes of descent. The Austrian came in 16th, though he recouped on the second run to share fifth place with Gros.

With three of their skiers in the first five, the Italian skiers were pleased with the day's racing. Franco Bieler of Italy won the first run and second overall, just ahead of teammate Gustav Thoeni.

JOE MIGHT BE USEFUL TO 'DIFFERENT' RAMS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Times says New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath, who for many years has asked to play in southern California, will move to Los Angeles Rams this spring.

The newspaper says Namath would either be traded this month or change National Football League teams next month as a free agent.

Club officials would not confirm or deny the deal.

"He's 34 now," said an unidentified Rams coach, "and there are a lot of teams he couldn't help.

"But the Rams are a different kind of club, very solid and conservative. They don't throw much and Joe is at his best when he can direct a good ground attack and throw a few timely passes."

His New York salary is $450,000 a year on a contract that ends in 10 days. The jets would have to pay him $495,000 in the coming season under the new NFL labor contract.

Top-seeded Chris Evert of the United States won the $100,000 Philadelphia women's tennis championship Sunday by defeating Martina Navratilova for the third time in four tournaments this season, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

It was a matter of Evert, the base liner, proving superior to Navratilova, the net rusher. Evert, runner-up here in 1975 to Virginia Wade of Britian and in 1976 to Australian Evonne Goolagong, now takes the lead over Navratilova of Czechoslovakia in their duel for the No. 1 world position.

Victory was worth $20,000 to Evert and raised her winnings for the season to $124,500. The lefthanded Navratilova still leads in money earned this year, with $131,475, after picking up the $10,000 second prize.

Old Guard Struggling

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — His victory in the Tournament Players Championship came as a surprise to Mark Hayes, 27, who used the wind as his ally and extended for another week the youthful revolution on the pro golf tour.

With the season 11 weeks old, only Jack Nicklaus has been able to win against youngsters who have bettered golf's established stars.

This time the supporting cast included Nicklaus, Tom Watson, Hale Irwin and Ray Floyd. All fired and fell back in the howling winds that turned the alligator-infested Sawgrass course into an unbeatable monster.

No one in the field of the world's finest players was able to break par for four rounds over the reclaimed swamp and marshland that the touring pros were playing for the first time.

"I was just concentrating on making pars," Hayes said after his even-par 72 had given him a two-stroke victory at 289, one over par and the highest winning score in any tour event since Nicklaus won the 1972 U.S. Open at 290.

Hayes' credentials—two victories and more than $150,000 in earnings last year—are such that his triumph couldn't be classified as an upset. But even he didn't expect it.

Watson had a two-shot lead at the turn, then struggled to a 41 on the back nine and fell out of it.

Mike McCullough, a non-winner who led or shared the lead through the first three rounds, was second with a birdie on the last hole. He had a 75, a 291 total and $34,200, the biggest cheque of his five-year career. Hayes won $60,000 from the total purse of $300,000.

Irwin, with a closing 74, and Australian Bruce Devlin, 72, tied for third at 292. At 293 were defending champion Nicklaus, 74; Graham Marsh, 71, and Watson, 77. Floyd, in the title chase most of the way, went to a 78-296.

Michigan Latest Favorite to Fall

By The Associated Press

North Carolina - Charlotte carved its niche among United States college basketball's elite Saturday by stunning top-ranked Michigan 75-68 in the mid-east regional final of the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships.

"This is just an unbelievable experience," said Lee Rose, coach of the '49ers, after the biggest victory in the school's 12-year-old basketball program sent Charlotte into next weekend's final four shootout at Atlanta along with two of NCAA basketball's more familiar names, North Carolina and Marquette.

North Carolina earned its berth in the finals by racing to a big first-half lead and then holding off Kentucky 79-72 in the east regional final while Marquette kept Al McGuire in the coaching business for one more week by rallying in the second half to beat Wake Forest 82-68 in the mid-west.

Nevada-Las Vegas, the top scoring team in the U.S. at an average of 108 points a game, pulled away from surprising Idaho State in the second half and posted a 107-90 triumph in the west regional final at Provo, Utah.

The national semi-finals to be played Saturday at the Omni in Atlanta, pit North Carolina-Charlotte, 28-3, against Marquette, 23-7, and North Carolina, 27-4, against Nevada-Las Vegas, 28-2.

Th shocking upset of Michigan was the latest chapter in Charlotte's meteoric rise in the sport. The school of 8,000 students, a branch of the University of North Carolina, first came to attention last year when the '49ers lost to Kentucky in the final of the National Invitation Tournament at New York.

Champs: Home Again

Happy Canadian Champions, Home Lumber Returns With the Trophy Again

SASKATOON — There were two impressive "items" in the 1987 Canadian senior "A" women's basketball championships.

Home Lumber of Victoria was the first on the list. The defending champions carried the championship trophy back to Victoria for the third time in four years by defeating Hamilton Bobcats 65-53 in Saturday's rugged, hard-fought final.

Joining the Jack Lusk-coached Home Lumber as an impressive feature here was the organization of the 1977 national tournament.

Departing from the usual "local committee" format, this year's tournament was arranged and conducted by the Saskatchewan Amateur Basketball Association. Off-court arrangements such as transportation and accommodation were, in Lusk's opinion, "first class." So were the complete and detailed statistics compiled by the provincial body.

As it turns out, the impressive organization helped point out why Home Lumber impressed. The Victorians committed almost 100 fewer errors than their nearest rivals in the three-day playdowns. They averaged three points better off the field and 14 points more from the foul line than any other team.

"In every stastic," said Lusk, "we were better than any other team.

"But it doesn't surprise me," he added. "With the addition of Gail Klaver and Wendy Grant, I feel this is the best team to ever come out of Victoria."

If there was anything to mar Lusk's day, it might have been the selection of the tournament's most valuable player. The nod went to Hamilton's Candy Clarkson.

Victoria's depth may have been the reason.

Angie Dobie, who topped Victoria scorers with 68 points in five games and picked off 49 rebounds, was Clarkson's main rival. Victoria's strong team statistics may have down-played Angie's contribution.

In both scoring and rebounding, Lusk received top efforts from Mary Coutts (51 points and 50 rebounds), Dee Freethy (64 and 32) and Lorna McHattie (57 and 27).

Freethy, who scored 16 points in Saturday's final, and Dobie both were selected to the all-star team along with Saskatoon's Heather Witzel (a twin sister of Victoria's Rose Jossul) and Nova Scotia's Joan Selig and Nancy Knowlton.

Home Lumber reached the final by defeating Saskatoon All Stars 88-57 earlier in the day. Hamilton advanced by stopping Halifax 56-53.

In a subsequent playoff for third place, Witzel's 15 points helped Saskatoon to a 63-67 thriller over Halifax.

McHattie scored 20 points and Dobie 19 to pace Victoria's offense against Saskatoon. Never in trouble, Lusk substituted freely and every player except Marilyn Benn managed at least one point.

Hamilton made things tougher. Concentrating their checking attentions on Coutts and Dobie, Bobcats held Home to a 36-32 half-time lead.

By ERNIE FEDORUK
Times Staff

Lethbridge Broncos may not be enjoying the best of health, but that doesn't prevent them from causing some of their other Western Canada Hockey League rivals to feel poorly.

Hit hard by injuries to key personnel, coach Howie Yanosik has been able to dress only 13 skaters and two goaltenders in recent games.

The thin lineup hasn't made Lethbridge an easy prey.

To the contrary. Backed by the strong goaltending of Rollie Boutin, Broncos have managed to salvage a pair of ties in their last two starts. That happens to be a great improvement over the success Lethbridge enjoyed during their first swing to the West Coast this season.

Missing front-liners Steve Tambellini, Mike Fynn and Mario Botlik, the Broncos rallied from a 4-1 deficit in New Westminister to tie the Bruins 4-4 Friday. Saturday, the Broncos mustered a 3-3 draw with Victoria Cougars and in the process lost yet another regular.

"At this rate," moaned Yanosik, "we may have to forfeit our place in the playoffs."

Winger Grant Eakin was the latest Bronco to be saddled with an injury. He suffered a dislocated shoulder during a fight with Victoria's Brent Gogol at the end of the first period.

The tie was a great moral victory for the suffering Albertans, even though they forced the Courgars to come from behind three times before the final settlement was reached.

Eakin, scoring before being injured, Doug Morrison and Dean Solheim counted Lethbridge's goals. Victoria's countering efforts were supplied by defenceman Mark Robinson, Geordie Robertson and Curt Fraser.

Lethbridge outshot Victoria 38-32 but Boutin had far more difficult stops to make than Victoria rival Murray Bannerman. Boutin also benefitted from goal posts. Both Gary Lupul and Bill Jobson banged shots off pipes after beating Boutin.

The single point enabled Cougars to move to within five of third-place Kamloops Chiefs in the Western Division standings. The Chiefs, however, gained an important game-in-hand.

Cougars play three of their five remaining games against the Chiefs, starting tonight with a makeup of a Kamloops home date postponed earlier in the season. The teams meet again Friday in Kamloops and Saturday in Memorial Arena and the Cougars must sweep all three to avoid a fourth-place finish.

The thinning Bronco ranks suffered Sunday. Lethbridge was shut out 7-0 by Portland Winter Hawks as hot-firing Tony Currie counted three more goals. Currie now has scored 19 goals in his last 10 games.

Elsewhere, Flin Flon Bombers tripped Regina Pats 7-4, Medicine Hat Tigers outmuscled Saskatoon Blades 6-3 and Winnipeg Monarchs tied New Westminister Bruins 2-2.

ICE CHIPS: Cougar coach Pat Ginnell changed his mind about drafting winger Bob Jansch from the affiliated Nanaimo Clippers . . . Jansch returned to Nanaimo Saturday and scored two goals in a 5-3 victory over Langley Lords that gives Clippers a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven B.C. Junior League semi-final . . . Cougar forward Dennis Fenske was handed a double minor and a game misconduct for coming off the bench to fight Mike Schneider after the Lethbridge player checked Robertson . . .

Canucks Win but Hawks Break Nine-Game Slide

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo regained a slight lead over Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League's Adams Division on Sunday and Sabres coach Floyd Smith thinks his team is in good enough shape to stay there.

"Our team is in good condition, so we were able to use only four defencemen," Smith said after a 6-2 victory over Washington Capitals. "We can play an offensive or defensive game depending on the situation."

The Sabres scored in each period, including a three-goal flurry in just more than two minutes of the first period, and bottled up the Capitals in their own end.

The Sabres, who lost 4-2 in Boston last Thursday, moved two points clear of the Bruins who play host to Montreal Canadiens tonight.

In other NHL games Sunday, Cleveland Barons beat Atlanta Flames 5-4, Minnesota North Stars edged Detroit Red Wings 2-1, New York Rangers defeated St. Louis Blues 5-3, Chicago Black Hawks edged Pittsburgh Penguins 3-2 and Vancouver Canucks beat Colorado Rockies 4-1.

On Saturday, Toronto Maple Leafs beat Atlanta 5-4, New York Rangers beat Pittsburgh 5-2, Philadelphia Flyers defeated Los Angeles Kings 5-3, Chicago tied 2-2 with New York Islanders and Vancouver and St. Louis played to a 4-4 draw.

Gil Perreault scored his 36th and 37th goals of the season to lead the Buffalo attack.

Atlanta's two weekend losses allowed the Rangers to pull back within five points of the Flames in the struggle for the final playoff berth in the Patrick Division.

The Rangers didn't give up Sunday night, coming from behind to tie the Blues three times before going ahead on a goal by Ron Greschner midway in the final period.

Chicago scored its first victory since Feb. 26, snapping a nine-game winless streak with the win over Pittsburgh on Grant Mulvey's breakaway goal in the third period.

Cleveland jumped to a 5-1 lead over Atlanta in the second period and then held off a late rally by the Flames who outshot the Barons 28-10 in the last two periods.

"It's always in the back of your mind that a team can come back like that," Cleveland coach Jack Evans said. "No matter how much you're ahead, you're afraid the bubble's gonna burst."

Ernie Hicke's goal at the end of the second period gave Minnesota the win over Detroit that kept the North Stars even with Vancouver at 58 points each, one behind Chicago in the battle for second place in the Smythe Division.

Vancouver kept pace with Ron Sedlbauer scoring two goals and goalie Cesare Maniago stopping 44 shots in the win over Colorado.

The loss pushed Colorado's winless streak to 13 games.

Orillia, Ont., took the B division crown with a 3-1 triumph over Nanaimo. In the semi-finals, Orillia beat Nova Scotia Twin Cities 5-3 and Nanaimo edged Quebec 4-3.

Other final results:

D Division — Goderich, Ont., 2, Rapperswil, Switzerland, 0.

Saanich Midgets Reach B.C. Final

CHEMAINUS — Marty Irvine fired a goal with less than five minutes left Sunday to help Saanich Braves to a 5-4 decision over Nanaimo and victory in the round-robin Vancouver Island midget hockey championship tournament at Fuller Lake Arena.

Tracy Patterson was the top marksman for unbeaten Saanich with two goals while other singles were fired by Darrel Coldwell and Phil Varcoe. Mike Johnson led Nanaimo with three goals.

Nanaimo led 1-0 after the first period of the extremely tight contest and the score was deadlocked 3-3 going into the final 20 minutes.

"It could have gone either way," Saanich coach Murray Slezak said later.

Saanich topped Fuller Lake Flyers 5-3 Saturday on goals by Jackie Wallis (2), Randy Wickware, Ron Pearce and Irvine.

In other weekend games, Fuller Lake dropped Port Alberni 9-1 and Port Alberni upset Nanaimo, 2-1.

Island Champs

Saanich Braves erased a 4-1 deficit to tie Nanaimo 5-5 Sunday and collect the Vancouver Island peewee hockey crown at Pearkes Arena.

Ron Poitras led previously unbeaten Saanich with two goals while singles were contributed by Don Barber, Craig Eversfield and Robin Bacica.

In earlier games of the tourney, Braves topped Campbell River 5-3 and Racquet Club of Victoria, 6-2. Racquet Club had beaten Nanaimo, 9-8.

Peron Wins First Trial

Peron's time was 36 minutes, 49 seconds.

Phil Cotter was third in 37:18, four seconds behind McLellan, while Pat Peron (37:48), and Phil Quillevere 39:22) were next across the line.

Tuner Triumphs

LONG BEACH, Calif. (Reuter) — Ted Turner of the Atlanta Yacht Club won the 13th annual Congressional Cup match racing championship of 1977 on Saturday.

Record Time By Johncock

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gordon Johncock, the 1973 Indianapolis 500 winner, broke the 200-mile-an-hour barrier Saturday during tire tests at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Johncock, the defending United States Auto Club national driving champion, turned in an unofficial lap speed of 200.4 m.p.h.

A USAC spokesman said several stopwatches timed Johncock at 44.9 seconds for a single circuit around the 2½-mile oval.

The official record — which may be set only during qualifications for the Indy 500 or during the race itself — is 199.071 m.p.h., set in 1973 by two-time winner Johnny Rutherford.

Eberts Shares Lead In Canadian Mixed

HALIFAX (CP) — Tony Eberts lounged casually in the lobby of the Mayflower Club on Sunday, answering questions about his British Columbia team's success at the Canadian Mixed Curling Championships.

In contrast, Alan Darragh of Dartmouth was still shaking in the locker room from the effects of an extra-end battle that required his precise last-rock takeout to give Nova Scotia a victory over Northwest Territories.

Eberts, from Williams Lake, B.C., and Darragh shared the lead after two rounds, both with 2-0 marks.

In second-round action Sunday night, Eberts jumped to a 5-2 lead after six ends, then held off Don Sutton of Alberta for a 7-5 verdict while Darragh blew a 6-2 lead and had to scramble for his second win.

In other second-round games, Manitoba whipped Prince Edward Island 11-4, Northern Ontario dumped Ontario 9-2; Quebec edged Newfoundland 9-8; and Saskatchewan got by New Brunswick 10-8.

In first-round games Sunday, B.C. whipped New Brunswick 13-5; Ontario dumped Saskatchewan 11-6; Alberta edged Quebec 7-4; Nova Scotia outlasted Manitoba 7-5; P.E.I. took a 10-7 win from Northern Ontario; and Newfoundland defeated Northwest Territories 10-7.

Eberts said a break decided his match with Alberta.

"We got a couple of breaks but the big one was the raise takeout in the eighth. The raise had to cover about 10 feet and we got it and took two. If we'd missed, we'd have been only one up instead of three and that's a different matter."

Garnet Campbell felt his Sankatchewan team had curled better in the night victory over Richard Belyea of Saint John, N.B., than in the 11-6 first-round loss to Ontario's Bob Woods.

Roy Makes It 33 in a Row

By BILL WALKER
Times Staff

Skip Roy Gislason of Winnipeg continued a remarkable record for consistency at the Victoria Curling Club Saturday when he won the Rothman's Canadian police curling championship for the third straight year.

Gislason skipped his Manitoba foursome of third Neil Dickson, second Ken Allan and lead Gary Finlay to a surprisingly easy 9-2 victory over Ken Ursuliak of Edmonton in his final game of the 12-rink, round-robin championship.

It gave Gislason not only an unblemished record of 11 victories and no defeats, but also an overall record of 33 straight victories over those past three years.

He lost his first game of the 1975 championships, then won 10 straight to qualify for a playoff for the championship, won that game, and in 1976 was unbeaten in all 11 games.

Dickson, who curled in Victoria until this year, is the only member of the rink who was not with Gislason in his two other Rothman Silver Stone triumphs.

Transferred to Winnipeg last fall, Dickson replaced third Wayne Buck who was transferred to Surrey. Buck competed in the B.C. playoffs earlier this year.

Saskatchewan, skipped by 22-year-old Norm Gilbertson of Saskatoon, finished second with a 10-1 mark. He won his final game Saturday, 15-5 over Ontario. His only loss was to Gislason, 6-5.

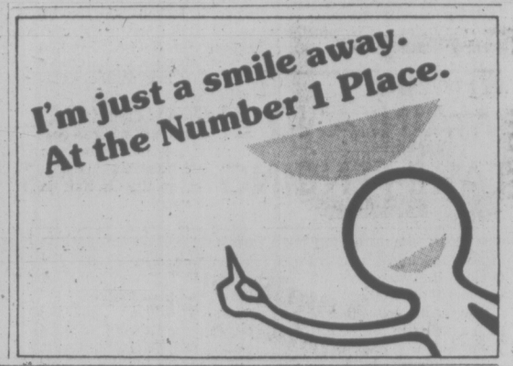
Bob Hawkes, skipping an RCMP rink from Victoria, finished third with an 8-3 record. Hawkes, who earlier had lost to Saskatchewan and Manitoba, was surprised in his final game by Murray Macara and his Yukon-Terrotories rink, 7-4.

The expected crucial final matchup between Gislason and Ursuliak was only crucial for three ends.

Ursuliak started well with a single on the first end and then a steal of one on the third for a 2-0 lead. That gave him hope and also premised a possible playoff if Gislason was to lose and Gilbertson win. But it was a false premise.

Gislason took charge with a three in the fourth stole a pair in the fifth. Two more in the sixth and singles in the seventh and eighth to turn the game into a rout.

The only other matter of real concern Saturday was whether Newfoundland would escape the stigma of going winless. And they did, although it took them to an extra end before making Quebec the victim, 9-8.



Ontario, Quebec Unbeaten In Senior Women's Play

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP) — Ontario and Quebec were undefeated and Alberta bounced back Sunday night after three rounds of the Canadian women's senior curling championship.

Edmonton's Hadie Manley, defending champion, came back from an afternoon loss to Joyce Myers's Nova Scotia rink with a 9-7 win over Vi Tapella of Burnaby, B.C.

It was Tapella's first loss.

Ontario's Shirley Keeley of Kingston, after a second-round bye, edged out Winnipeg's Lorraine Bloomer 9-8 in the 10th end when she counted two stones with last rock.

Rita Proulx of Quebec City, who received the evening bye, will carry her 2-0 record into the fourth round.

Joyce Myers' Halifax, N.S. rink picked up an 11-6 victory over Shorley Reber's Yukon-Northwest Territories rink after engineering an upset 11-10 win over Alberta earlier in the day.

In other games Vi Pike of Grand Falls, Nfld., picked up her first win of the competition with three stones in the 10th end as she edged Fredericton, N.B.'s Dorren Blair 9-8.

Millie Dinner of Moose Jaw, Sask., had no trouble defeating Charlottetown's Doris MacDonald 13-5.

In addition to the Nova Scotia-Alberta game, second-round afternoon action saw Quebec defeat Newfoundland 10-2, B.C. down Saskatchewan 10-8, Manitoba trounce Yukon-N.W.T. 11-2 and New Brunswick beat Prince Edward Island 13-2.

The 11 - team tournament was to continue today with fourth and fifth rounds.

Harvey Nicholson of Nanaimo, who calls the shots for Fred White, Arnold Laws and Norman Baldwin, will lead the four-rink Pacific Coast contingent into the B.C. over-60 men's curling championship, which starts next weekend at the North Shore Winter Club in North Vancouver.

Nicholson defeated Ed McDormand (Hank Graas, Graham Sled, Gus Reid) of Victoria 9-7 at Juan de Fuca in the Pacific Coast playoff final. In the semi-finals, Nicholson ousted Harold Keyes of Burnaby 13-4 and McDormand bumped Ross Craig of Langley, 7-6.

All four rinks will be competing in the round-robin provincial playdowns, which continue through to March 30.

Only Premier Teams Left Alive

It proved very close in one case, but only premier division squads managed to survive the quarter-final round of the Vancouver Island Soccer League's Jackson Cup competition at the weekend.

The tight match was played Sunday at Topaz Park, where Powell River Villas managed to eke out a 3-2 decision on penalty kicks over Victoria West of the second division. In other Sunday tussles, Victoria Athletics nudged another premier division team, Oak Bay, 1-0 in overtime at Heywood Avenue Park while Victoria West I tripped Victoria Athletics III 5-1 at Blanshard Field.

Powell River scored into their own net early in the match and Bruce Rees of Wests got the credit. For a while it looked like the lead would stand but George Orchison scored with 10 minutes remaining for Villas to deadlock the match 1-1 in regulation time.

Four minutes into overtime, Bob Orchison connected for Powell Fiver. Rees tied things up again by banging in a pass from Keith Humphries with about three minutes remaining in the extra session to force a decision on penalty kicks.

The issue was settled on the last of five shots for each team.

Rob Williams set the pace for Wests I with two goals and singles were added by Mike Sails, Mike Hardy and Gary McLaren. Bob Batistoni avoided a shutout for Athletics III, who trailed 4-0 at half time.

Both goals for Nanaimo City were scored by Don Attig. He converted a free kick by Leon Cake at 21 minutes and counted the insurance goal with only two minutes remaining.

Dave McLeod earned the shutout for Nanaimo.

Semi-finals in the Jackson Cup competition are scheduled for April 16-17 and the final will be played the following weekend. Both Jackson Cup finalists will represent the Island in the eight-team playoff for the Province Cup and a berth in the Canadian championship.

MAINLAND ENTRANTS TAKE FENCING CROWNS

Simon Tam, who fences for Simon Fraser University, won the senior men's sabre event while George Varaljay of Vancouver, a member of Canada's 1976 Olympic team, took the senior men's epee.

Thunderbirds Roll Past Crimson Tide

University of British Columbia Thunderbirds surprised Vancouver Island Union representative Crimson Tide 25-7 Saturday at UBC to capture the McKechnie Cup, emblematic of inter-city rugby supremacy.

Thunderbirds, who won the Northwest Intercollegiate Conference championship earlier this month, held a 10-3 lead at half time and completely smothered the Island side following the break.

The UBC club finished the four-team, round-robin competition with a 3-0 record while Crimson Tide was second at 2-1. Fraser Valley, which topped Vancouver Reps 26-8 Saturday, were tied for third spot with their opponents at 1-2.

Dave Whyte sparked the UBC attack with two tries and other four-pointers were added by Don Carson and Garry Hirayama. Preston Wylie, the Thunderbird captain, kicked a penalty goal and three conversions.

Bevan Grant of UVic Vikings scored a try and Cliff Yorath of Castaways booted a drop goal for the Tide.

In a preliminary match, UBC Braves nudged the Junior Tide, 18-12. Dan Hemmingway scored a try and Pat Trelawny booted the conversion for Juniors.

Royal Roads bounced Saanich Velox 14-4, Vampires stunned Nanaimo 46-14 and James Bay Athletic association tripped UVic Saxons 24-8 in Island Union third division matches Sunday. Oak Bay thirds downed Ebb Tide 21-10 in an exhibition match the same day.

Next action for Island rugby fans will be Tuesday at Centennial Stadium, where UVic Vikings will face Long Beach State in an exhibition match beginning at 3 p.m.

Order Prevents Shift by Jets

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Jets were temporarily barred Friday from shifting their first two home games of the National Football League's regular season away from Shea Stadium. The restraining order requested by New York City prevents the Jets from pulling out of Shea in their feud with Shea's primary tenant, New York Mets of baseball's National League.

Leafs Return Pair

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League returned forwards Bob Warner and Paul Evans to Dallas Black Hawks of the Central Hockey League on Saturday. The break-up of the Bruce Boudreau-Evans-Warner line was needed because Bob Neely and Scott Garland have returned from injuries.

Three City Clubs Gain Semi-Finals

ALBERTA'S SWINGIN' SUMMER

Like costume parties? Here's a chance to put on a store-bought cowboy hat and act like you're on the set of a western movie. Or get all gussied up in home made ruffles, or vest and high hat.

Hi there, Klondike Kate. Hi, Cowpoke!

Like dancing? Well come and square dance in the streets. Or polka. Or waltz. Or boogie in a night spot that's never been livelier.

Like parades? Big name entertainers? Chorus lines and comedy? Midways? A little fling in the casinos? A wager on a horse with your luckiest cousin's name? Carryin' on 'till all hours?

All you have to do is be here — in Alberta — this summer. Anytime between July 8th and July 30th.

There isn't another party like it. Over a million Albertans get involved, starting in Calgary then moving on to Edmonton.

It's a party in the streets, in the stores, in restaurants and nightspots, in apartments and homes, in front of the grandstand, on the ferris wheels and rocket rides, in a 16,000-seat coliseum — and in the air, if you just left the back of a wild Brahma bull. (Some party, eh?)

It covers 200 miles and more than three weeks of sheer fun and excitement. The Calgary Stampede and Edmonton's Klondike Days.

There's nothing like it in North America. And you're invited.

You'll make new friends. (If it takes more than five minutes, that's unsociable.) And you'll have more to see, do and enjoy than anywhere else we can think of.

What are you waiting for? If you're planning your summer vacation, make sure all or part of it is in Alberta while our big party is in full swing.

On the other hand there's no way to miss a good time, because you'll find lots of the spirit that makes Klondike Days and the Stampede so much fun, anytime you come. If you're with a large group, we can even stage a mini Stampede or Klondike Days for you.

For planning information, just write The Biggest Party in North America, P.O. Box 16000, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada T5J 2P4

Braves Fight Back, Keep Island Crown

The Bayden Robinson-coached Braves squared the best-of-three series with Port Alberni Timbermen with an 11-5 victory Saturday at Pearkes Arena and then won Sunday's deciding game 4-2.

Saanich now will face Richmond, the Lower Mainland champions, in a best-of-three B.C. semi-final series to be played next weekend on the mainland.

Checked effectively by the bigger Port Alberni team in the series' opener, Braves resorted to a skating and passing game to defeat Timbermen. Saanich out-shot Timbermen 62-31 in Saturday's game and 44-38 in the rougher Sunday engagement.

Rob Coldwell and Brent Patterson, a series standout, provided Saanich with a 2-1, first-period lead Sunday. The second session was scoreless and Saanich went ahead 4-1 on third-period counters by Murray McLaren and Dale Ewasiuk befort Joe Peterec scored Port Alberni's second goal.

Des Bradley counted Alberni's first goal.

McLaren counted three times Saturday while Ed Beauchemin and Ron Jobson each scored twice. Patterson, who also picked up three assists, Bill Adkin, Coldwell and Wayne Larsen added one each.

Crowds around 700 jammed the 500-seat Pearkes Arena for all three games.

Ron Cracks Record

By The Canadian Press

Houston Aeros, well on their way to claiming the World Hockey Association's Western Division title, are showing off a lineup that may be hard to beat in the playoffs.

"We've got good balance," Houston coach Bill Dineen said Sunday after his team scored six goals in the final period to rout Indianapolis Racers 8-3.

"This club is becoming tougher because our younger players have come along. People think of our club and they talk about Gordie Howe. Yes, he's a key player, but guys like Rich Preston and Terry Ruskowski have developed."

Another strong point in the Houston lineup is goalie Ron Grahame who recorded his 12th consecutive win, a league record.

Howe, the ageless wonder of pro hockey as he nears the age of 49, and Preston each had a pair of goals in the final period. Morris Lukowich, who was born more than 28 years after his famed team-mate, also had two goals for the winners and Ruskowski added four assists.

In other WHA games Sunday, San Diego Mariners ended a 14-game winless string by beating Phoenix Roadrunners 6-1. Winnipeg Jets beat Birmingham Bulls 4-3 and New England Whalers handed Calagry Cowboys their second shutout loss of the weekend by a 9-0 score.

Houston holds the best record in the league with 45 wins, 20 losses and six ties and stands 12 points ahead of second-place Winnipeg, which has only nine games left on its schedule.

San Diego, which briefly held the Western Division lead earlier in the season, last won a game Feb. 23 against Phoenix. Sunday night's win against the Roadrunners ended a 14-game winless streak by the Mariners that included 12 losses and two ties.

Andre Lacroix had a goal and three assists to lead the San Diego win.

Oiler Rookie Out of Action

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oilers of the World Hockey Association learned Friday that flashy rookie Brett Callighen will miss about two weeks of play because of a groin injury suffered Thursday in a 4-3 victory over Winnipeg Jets.

The left winger said he got his skate caught in a rut on the ice and failed to turn as he attempted to check defenceman Lars-Erik Sjoberg near the Winnipeg net.

AUSTRALIAN DRIVER DIES

MELBOURNE (Reuter) — Australian racing driver Max Stewart died Saturday from injuries he received in a crash at Calder Raceway. The Lola T400 driven by Stewart, 42, slammed into the rear of the Elfin driven by Australian Vern Schuppan during practice for a Formula 500 race earlier in the day. Schuppan was not hurt but rescue teams needed 20 minutes to free Stewart from his car.

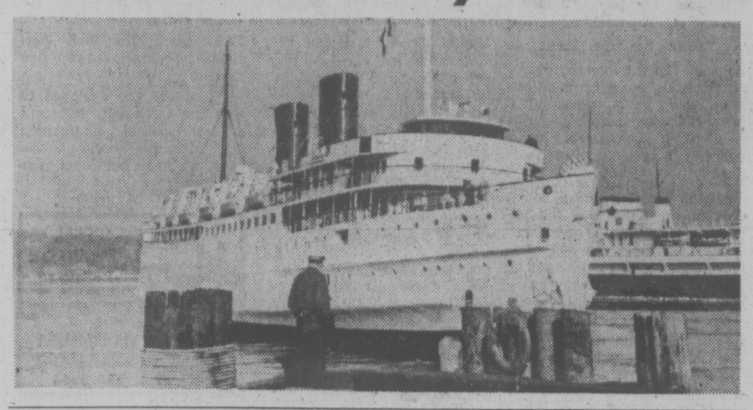
Charm Key to Princess Pat's Success



VANCOUVER (CP) — Charm and relaxed atmosphere is the key to the continuing success of the Princess Patricia in the cruise business, says a company spokesman.

The CP Rail vessel, after 29 years, is the only Canadian cruise ship left on the West Coast, and will carry only a small portion of the 70,000 persons expected to cruise British Columbia's inland passage this year. Seven other cruise ships based in Vancouver, and five more touch here during runs between California and Alaska.

In what is turning into a cutthroat business, the Princess Pat appeals to a more sedate clientele by keeping the operations small, intimate, with what one official calls "a sense of old world charm." Having the mortgage paid off helps.

Which is not to say that the Princess Patricia caters solely to the aterio-sclerotic crowd, though administrators admit that a good number of the regular passengers are retirees.

"It's just that pace on board is slower and a little more low-key.

"Let's face it," says Charles Gordon, public relations representative for the vessel, "se's a smaller ship and doesn't have all the amenities that the big boats do.

"The thing that sells the Princess Pat is her charm and relaxed atmosphere. The kind of passenger we attract is the person who likes to get to know his fellow passengers.

Wood is the key on the Princess Patricia. Everywhere there is wood. Nigerian Cherrywood. Honduas Mahogony. Bird's eye maple. And rare teak decks. Teak decks that are scrubbed and bleached every year.

"When this ship was built in 1948," says Al Cairns, marine superintendent for the B.C. coast steamship service, and who was quartermaster on it when it was brought over from England, "every piece of wood and panelling on this ship was tailor-made for fitting even before the ship was completed."

When the time did come, Cairns says, all the wood was installed in a little more than 24 hours time.

"And the night before we sailed," he said, "one hundred girls came aboard with dust rags and polish and hand-rubbed 'every individual piece of wood. Those girls were everywhere that night, and they looked like an army of ants."

The only thing passengers come in contact with on this boat in real, organic, warm wood — the stuff that picks up the stinks and humidity and sea-smells and markings from a thousand storms that can only come after 30 years on the water.

Prisoner Query Rejected

VANCOUVER (CP) — A form letter requesting information from 36 prisoners in various institutions in British Columbia was barred by the director of the new federal institution at Mission east of here, a spokesman for the prisoners' rights group said Sunday.

Sue Latell, spokesman for the Vancouver organization, said prisoners were asked for ideas or information they could give to the group about legal problems they face.

The group is scheduled to present a brief to the Legal Services Commission March 30. The commission is currently holding public hearings into changes needed in the legal system.

Latell said the letter to a prisoner at Mission Medium Security Prison was the only one that didn't get through.

Jack Stewart, spokesman for the Canadian penitentiary service, confirmed that prison director D. S. Dhillon stopped the letter and said the decision was valid "if he feels the communication is not geared to the reformation and rehabilitation of the inmate."

Employers Back UIC Merger

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Employers' Council of B.C. has endorsed the proposed amalgamation of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and the department of manpower and immigration.

In a brief to the federal government on Bill C-27, the Employment and immigration reorganization Act, the council says that the integration is a positive step.

The council says it hopes the bill will result in improved services, efficiencies and a reduction in administration costs.

The brief also recommends that the proposed unemployment insurance eligibility requirement of 12 weeks be extended to 16 weeks.

LET US CHECK!
You may have drafts around your windows because of poor-fitting frames and single-layer glass. Our double-glazed windows allow an air-gap of at least 1" between existing window and inside glass. With this secondary system drafts are eliminated right around the window because the secondary insets are weather-stripped and fitted precisely. Heat stays inside, but these units open from the inside for draft free ventilation when needed.

CONGO TENSION EASES

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo (UPI) — An interim military government eased public security measures today but kept up the search for the two surviving gunmen who killed Congolese President Marien Ngouabi Friday, the French embassy here said.

The embassy said life had returned nearly to normal, but that armed soldiers continued to check identification in the streets and searched cars trying to find the two fugitives who shot Ngouabi in an apparent coup attempt. Two other gunmen were killed os the spot.

A 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew also remained in force.

The Congolese foreign ministry refused to confirm reports that the assassination attempt had been orchestrated by former President Alphonse Massamba-Debat or that the latter was under arrest.

Radio Brazzaville Sunday accused Massamba-Debat of masterminding the coup attempt and said he and "many others" had been arrested.

"Those who killed President Ngouabi are the killer-pawns of Congolese ex-President Alphonse Massamba-Debat," overthrown by Ngouabi eight years ago, the radio said.

"These killers must pay with the same currency of blood," said the broadcast monitored in the Zairean capital of Kinshasa, directly across the Congo River from Brazzaville.

But government officials in the former French Congo today said that none of the assassins had been arrested and would not name any suspects.

According to reports from Zaire, the Congolese police and army are searching for Barthelemy Kikadidi, a former army captain who allegedly led the assault against the army headquarters where Ngaouabi was assassinated.

Zaire President Mobutu Sese Seko, whose government is under attack by insurgents in the southern copper-rich province of Shaba, declared three days of mourning for Ngouabi, who will be buried April 2.

Businesses and shops in Brazaville opened for half a day today as a part of the progressive normalization.

Africa Crisis Attracts Moscow

PODGORNY

By PETER OSNOS
Washington Post

MOSCOW — Soviet President Nokolai Podgorny's extended trip to southern Africa, which begins today, the first such visit by a top Kremlin official, is a dramatic gesture of Moscow's interests and growing influence in that increasingly tense region.

Podgorny will head a delegation said to number 120 people for talks with leaders of Tanzania, Zambia and Mozambique and key figures in the black nationalist and guerrilla movements that are challenging white minority governments in South Africa and Rhodesia. The Soviets are certain to get a warm reception.

Nowhere else in the world is Moscow as openly bellicose as in Southern Africa conflict. It declares frequently, as Podgorny did again the other day, thtat the Kremlin "will continue to give aid and support to the peoples of Zimbabwe (Rhodesia), Namibia (Southwest Africa) and South Africa who are selflessly fighting the racist regimes."

One of the main purposes of the trip therefore is undoubtedly to assess how that aid — particularly the military kind — can be effectively channeled. Western sources here say that Soviet military assistance so far has consisted of small arms and artillery, but as the fighting intensifies, especially in Rhodesian border areas, larger amounts of more sophisticated weapons may be offered.

When arrangements for the Podgorny trip were begun late last year, Anglo-American efforts to bring about a peaceful transition to majority rule in Rhodesia were still under way, chiefly through the Geneva Conference. The Kremlin was sharply critical of those negotiations.

It was thought then that Podgorny was being dispatched primarily to reassert Moscow's presence in the area, so that the Kremlin would not be left wholly outside the bargaining—as so often happened in the heyday of former U.S. secretary of state Henry A. Kissinger's Middle East diplomacy. In southern Africa, as in the Arab-Israeli conflict, Soviet leverage is always endangered by the fact that it deals with only one side.

The Western effort to resolve the issues in southern Africa are now stalled, however. Once again the Soviet Union's longstanding indentification with the local rhetoric of "struggle against the forces of imperialism, colonialism, neocolonialism, racism and apartheid" gives Moscow considerable cachet that the Podgorny trip is obviously meant to enhance.

The top Soviet leaders are in regular contact with black nationalists—Joshua Nkomo, leader of the Zambabwe African Peoples' Union was just in Moscow for a week-long visit, his second since last summer—so that the arduous trip by the 74-year-old Podgorny must have considerable symbolic and ceremonial significance in the Kremlin view.

Soviet backing for national liberation movements is a fundamental tenet of Kremlin ideology—an essential element in the Kremlin's policy toward all Third World countries—and it is in southern Africa where that backing can most vividly be demonstrated. Hence Podgorny's journey.

Podgorny will not be going to Angola, where Kremlin support for a victorious Marxist faction in the country's civil war last year gave the Soviets probably their greatest African success. Western analysts say that relations with Angola are already so extensive that nothing further is necessary now.

"The treaty," said Podgorny in a speech given extensive coverage here, "portrays in concentrated form our country's course in relationships with new countries in Africa . . ." Specialists interpreted this as meaning Moscow regards its ties with Angola as a model for those with other governments — present and future — in the region.

Podgorny will go first to Tanzania, site of China's most elaborate African Aid project, the Tanzam Railway. Tanzania's relations with the Soviets have been improving — Moscow now provides military assistance and recently announced plans to aid in the building of a hydro-electric plant.

The meeting will be the first between President Julius Nyerere and a top-level Soviet official.

Mozambique may well be the most important stop for Podgorny. President Samora Machel has proven to be an independent-minded personality whose devotion to Marxism-Leninism has thus far not extended to the sort of links with the Kremlin that Angola has forged.

Podgorny may be hoping to get a friendship treaty with Mozambique like the one Neto signed.

South Africa Pressures Smith

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — South Africa has offered to play a direct role in the Rhodesian negotiations by bringing pressure on the Smith regime and guaranteeing its "sincerity," according to diplomatic officials.

They say the South African offer to bring political and economic pressure against Smith is linked with another plan: a referendum inside Rhodesia within the next few months to determine a single, responsible spokesman for the Rhodesian blacks.

South African officials said a principal reason for the failure of earlier Geneva negotiations was the lack of a unified black leadership among the four factions represented.

"If Ian Smith were to decide to capitulate today and were to send a letter to the other parties advising them of it, who would he send it to? Should he address it "To Whom It May Concern?'" asked one diplomat.

The South African offer, which has been discussed with American and British officials, would mean that Pretoria would guarantee the Rhodesians would carry out their part of any agreement leading to black majority rule.

One diplomat said, "South Africa would guarantee Smith's sincerity in accepting the principle of black majority rule within two years."

The official declined to say what kind of pressure South Africa would bring against Smith if he were to back away from his commitment, but Rhodesia is economically dependent on supply lines that run through South Africa.

But meanwhile, Rhodesian nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo Sunday warned Rhodesian whites against accepting any internal settlement with rival nationalist Bishop Abel Muzorewa and said they must be prepared to face Soviet rockets if they did,

RCMP Use Axes, Gas to Evict Family

RICHIBUCTO, N.B. (CP) — RCMP officers using axes and tear gas evicted Jackie Vautour, his family and several other persons from a motel here early today. The Vautours had barricaded themselves in the motel for several months to protest expropriation of their property for a national park.

Vautour, 48, and several of his sons were taken to Moncton, N.B., where they were expected to appear in court later today.

Vautour was dragged kicking and struggling from his room by five Mounties after they smashed down the door with an axe.

When he was wrestled outside, Vautour squirmed out of his shirt and fell struggling to the ground. A sixth Mountie placed leg irons on him.

Vautour was put in a station wagon with a steel-mesh fence inside its rear section and driven away.

The RCMP staged the raid room-by-room and had their greatest difficulty with three young men who refused to leave until a tear-gas canister was fired through a smashed picture window.

Staff Sgt. Ron Smith, in charge of the raiding party, stood beside the window and warned the occupants that tear gas would be used if they did not come out. One of the men replied that they were afraid of being beaten by the police and apparently did not accept police assurances to the contrary.

A projectile was flung from the inside, striking the window casement near where the RCMP officer was standing. Bits of flying glass knocked his hat off and gave him a slight cut over the left ear. The tear gas was then fired inside the room.

Reporters said that as each of the three men came out, they stepped on the low window sill and jumped on the officers outside. Scuffles ensued but police had little further trouble subduing the three.

Motel owner Elzear Thebeau said about eight members of the Vautour family and at least six other persons were removed from several rooms.

The Vautours had been in the motel since Nov. 5, and had vowed to remain until they won what they considered adequate compensation for their 100-acre property expropriated last year by the provincial government for nearby Kouchibouguac National Park.

Vautour did not answer knocks on his door and the order was attached to the door handle.

Vautour had refused a government offer of $20,000 for his house and property. He said he wants $150,000 for the land and lost fishing and hunting rights.

The family was brought to the motel last November after RCMP evicted them from the park property. The provincial government paid the motel bill for a month but Thebeau said he has not been paid since.

About $12,300 was owed on the motel bill, not including damages done during the raid today. Thebeau said earlier he will launch a civil action to secure the back rent.

Reading Troubles Discussed at UVic

The annual neuropsychology workshop at the University of Victoria next week will concentrate on reading and reading disabilities.

UVic psychologist Dr. William Gaddes, who founded the workshops 12 years ago, said pre-registration for this year's session is heavy. Some of the best neuropsychologists in North America will attend.

The annual workshop stresses the relationship between brain function and behavioral ability, skill or emotional response.

Dr. Helmer Myklebust from the University of Illinois and Dr. Paul Satz from the University of Florida will be just two of the speakers.

Mykelbust has written extensively about neuropsychology, learning, language development and the treatment of the handicapped.

Satz, director of U of F's neuropsychology laboratory, is an expert of brain lesions, brain function and the prediction of reading abilities.

The first workshop in 1965 drew about 65 delegates, but since 1970, it has consistently attracted 500 participants.

The workshop this year will be held in Newcombe Auditorium March 26 and 27.

and of the broadcasting undertakings operated by them, to Western Broadcasting Company Ltd. through the acquisition of shares of Premier Cablevision Limited; and

2) the indirect transfer of control of shares of, or the transfer of effective control of, the following licensees and the broadcasting undertakings operated by them through the transfer of 594,500 common shares (16%) of Western Broadcasting Company Ltd. to S. W. Welsh and others (the "Premier Management Group") and through the entry into a voting trust agreement by certain shareholders of Western Broadcasting Company Ltd. (F. A. g) Okanagan Valley Television Co. Ltd., licensee of CHBC-TV Kelowna, British Columbia and its rebroadcasting stations. (770220200)

These applications propose a considerable degree of concentration of ownership and control of licensed broadcasting undertakings, particularly in British Columbia. They also propose a substantial element of interlocking ownership of television and cable television, which in the past the Commission has permitted only in "special circumstances". At the hearing, the Commission will therefore wish to explore fully with the applicants and other interested parties the implications of the proposals for the Canadian broadcasting system and the communities served by the licensed undertakings involved.

New Coin Crowns Shopkeepers

LONDON — The Crown has been part of British coinage for more than 400 years, but when a new version was issued last week in celebration of the Queen's silver jubilee, it was as if the Treasury had started issuing foreign currency.

Confronted by a customer using the unweildy, soda cracker-size coin, shopkeepers around this city had an almost universal response: "What is it."

But once a quizzical gaze spotted the engraving of the Queen, with her name along the rim, most were willing to admit it could be legal British tender.

Nowhere on the one-ounce, 1½-inch diameter coin is its value to be found.

"It's traditional that the value doesn't appear on the coin," explained a Treasury spokesman, but that was of no help to frustrated shopkeepers.

"I just don't know," said Mary Willma, who decided that since the coin is so large, it must be worth 50 pence.

In fact, since the Crown was first introduced by King Henry VIII in 1526, it has always been worth five shillings — 25 pence under the new monetary system.

The coin never gained popularity until this century, when it started to become a souvenir item.

Twenty-five million of the jubilee coins will be issued, One side of the coin has a filigree flower design encircling a poised bird with outstretched wings topped by a crown.

The reverse has a likeness of the Queen riding sidesaddle on a prancing horse. Her image is surrounded by her name and the year 1977 — the 25th year of her reign.

Witness Stand Cop-Out

CALGARY — It was the kind of blunder all policemen dread — identifying the wrong person in court.

It happened shortly after a city policeman tok the stand to testify in a rather routine trial of a man charged with refusing to take a breath-alyzer test.

The Crown prosecutor asked the policman if the man in question was in the court.

"Yes, that's him over there," the policeman said, pointing to a newspaper reporter sitting alone in the press dock, which is directly opposite the prisoners' dock.

"Sorry," the reporter said.

There was a moment of panic while the prosecutor shuffled nervously, the officer stammered and the judge suppressed his mirth before he smiled.

"Er, no, that's him over there," the policeman said pointing to another man. "He doesn't have a moustache now."

Before dismissing the case, the judge said the record would show the officer identified the wrong man.

COMEDY SHOW LINGERING

Ticket sales are going so well for their spring production at McPherson Playhouse, report the Victoria Actors Association, that it has been decided to add two extra performances of the un-named English farce-comedy by the duo that authored the group's first success — Move Over Mrs. Markham.

The extra performances will follow the scheduled Wednesday - through-Saturday run, on March 28 and 29. Curtain times are 8 p.m. The director is Allan Purdy, who also directed Mrs. Markham, No Sex Please, We're British, and the more recent drama, Dylan.

Senior Mexican Police Held for Extortion

MATAMOROS, Mexico — Three high-ranking Mexican police officers and 12 policemen have been arrested in connection with the extortion of $14,000 from a U.S. man for the release of his son.

Mexican police made the arrests four days after Perry Greer of Lexington, Ky., told U.S. authorities he was forced to pay the money to get police to release his son.

During a brief ceremony at the police station here Sunday, Mexican authorities apologized to the Greers and returned Greer's $14,000 and the keys to his son's car, which had been taken during the arrest.

Mexican officials also invited the Greers to spend a week in their country as guests of the government.

Young Greer, 19, a sophomore at Southwest Texas State University, said he was headed for a week's vacation in Mexico when he was stopped about midnight last Tuesday night at a police roadblcok in this town across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, Tex.

The alleged charge was possession of marijuana, which the young Greer said police planted in his car.

A telephone call early Wednesday brought the elder Greer and the $14,000 to gain the youth's release.

The investigation was begun by the Mexican attorney-general's office in Mexico City at the request of U.S. Consul Francis Arenz, whom the Greers had made contact with in Matamoros.

SELLERS AILING AFTER HONEYMOON

LONDON — Actor Peter Sellers, stricken by possible food poisoning on a flight from France, was kept under observation today in a London hospital but his bride of one month said he was feeling fine and "cracking jokes."

Sellers, 51, collapsed Sunday on the Air France Boeing 727 taking him and his 22-year-old fourth wife, British actress Lynne Frederick, home from their honeymoon in the south of France.

"Peter is sitting up in bed, drinking a cup of tea and cracking jokes," Mrs. Sellers told reporters at Charing Cross hospital Sunday night.

"He's wondering what happened to him, but he feels fine now.

"He has definitely not got another heart attack. We both had bad tummies after eating oysters. It may be a touch of food poisoning."

CROSBY SLEEPS THROUGH SHOW

PASADENA, Calif. Bing Crosby, laid-up with a leg injury missed the television tribute that led to his admission to hospital in the first place.

The 72-year-old crooner slept through Bing, a 90-minute CBS special broadcast Sunday night, said a spokesman for Huntington Memorial Hospital.

Crosby had just finished taping the tribute to his 50 years in show business on March 3 when he fell off the stage at the Ambassador Auditorium here.

A hospital spokesman said Crosby is suffering pain from deep bruises causing pressure on his leg nerves and is expected to remain in the hospital for at least another week.

Banks Quits AIM

BERKELEY, Calif. — Dennis Banks has resigned as executive director of the American Indian Movement, he confirmed Sunday night.

Banks said he felt he could not fulfill duties as head of AIM because he believes he has to remain in California.

Banks has been convicted in South Dakota on riot charges in connection with incidents in the 1973 riot at Custer, S.D., which eventually evolved into the Wounded Knee confrontation.

Gov. Edmund Brown of California has refused to extradite him to South Dakota, citing the need for each state to maintain a certain degree of sovereignty.

Mary Hartman 'Has Had It'

NEW YORK — Louise Lasser, who plays the pigtailed Mary Hartman in Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman, plans to drop out of the series next season, says New York Daily News columnist Liz Smith.

Miss Lasser "has had it" with the character and wants to do other things, Miss Smith says.

BEETHOVEN TRIBUTE

EAST BERLIN — East Germany launched a week-long national tribute Sunday to Ludwig van Beethoven to mark the 150th anniversary next Saturday of the composer's death.

The celebrations opened with the first performance of a newly-revised version of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony by the Leipzig Gewandhaus Orchestra.

Your Only Hope Is for a Miracle

If you buy too many lottery tickets you must lose.

Best hope for a million on a $10 bet is two tickets on the Provincial.

Best hope to win any kind of prize is 50-to-1 against you on Loto but the chances are it will be only $100.

Best hope to win big money on a small bet is the $50,000 prize for $1 on the Express where the odds are "only" 360,000 to one against you.

Your chances of never winning $1 million in a lottery are excellent.

By AL FORREST
Times Staff

Your best chances of winning $1 million in a lottery is to buy two $5 tickets on the Provincial — but even then the odds aren't very good.

The odds against winning it are 430,000 to one. And that's better than 625,000 to one, which is the odds against winning $1 million by spending $10 on a Loto ticket.

On the other hand, your chances of losing are excellent.

One Victoria man, for example, believes his chances are 10 times better if he buys 10 of everything that's going.

His take-home pay, after taxes, is $13,000. Or it would be except for the lotteries. He spends $1,000 per year on the tickets, leaving only $12,000 for other expenses.

He is caught by the lure of tax free millions but his own after-tax resources are draining away.

Here's how it happens:

He buys 10 Loto Canada tickets for each draw. That's $100 a time. Other people just hope to win. But he must win a $100 prize just to break even.

He does this four times a year for a total cost of $400. Similarly he buys 10 $5 Provincial tickets for each of the six draws for a total of $300 for a full year.

In The Express he buys 10 dollar tickets 26 times a year for a cost of $260.

Total yearly bill $960. He gets it over $1,000 by a bit of extra impulse buying near the drawing date.

And he hasn't won a single prize so far.

The truth is, the more tickets you buy, the better your chances are of going broke.

For example, if you buy all the Loto Canada tickets issued you would become a multi-millionaire because there are $30 million in prizes. But it would cost $75 million to buy all the tickets. By buying all the tickets you must lose $45 million.

This principle holds true for any mass purchase of tickets; the more you buy the greater your chances of losing your shirt.

For example, if you had a million dollars, you could buy one million tickets on the next Express lottery. With average luck, you would win $75,000 in $25 prizes plus up to $25,000 more, for a total of $100,000.

In the next Express two weeks later, you could use your $100,000 to buy 100,000 tickets at one dollar each. In the draw, you figure to win up to $10,000 in all.

In the third draw, 10,000 Express tickets would leave you with $800, assuming your luck is average.

In the fourth draw you may end up with $25 or nothing at all. That's going from $1 million to nothing in eight weeks. You can win a million overnight, but your chances of losing one million are much better — if you buy too many tickets.

A fair game pays true odds. You toss a quarter and call it heads. If it's heads you win the quarter, if it's tails, you lose. Unless both sides of the coin are tails, it is a fair game.

Similarly, it is possible to hold a fair lottery. Ten people each toss one dollar into a pot and names of the 10 people go into a hat. Whoever's name is drawn wins the $10. The payoff exactly equals the chances of winning so it is a fair game.

All Canadian lotteries, however, pay off only about 40 per cent of true odds.

Of every $100 taken in, $20 goes in administration, $40 is retained as net proceeds (and turned over to government or Olympic use) and the remaining $40 is all that is left for prizes.

This means someone winning a $50,000 prize should really have been awarded $125,000 (considering the odds he faced) but the extra $75,000 has been retained by the lottery organizers as the house's cut in the game.

By contrast, a casino only takes about five per cent in a roulette game or blackjack. Even a slot machine only has an edge of about 18 per cent.

Race tracks, which are not the best place in the world to get rich, pay out at least 80 per cent of their receipts in prize money.

There is hardly any game more cruel than the lottery.

(The only popular game worse than the lottery's take of 60 per cent is the Grey Cup ticket swindle. The tickets at $1 each have scores for East-West ranging from 50-0 to 0-50. This produces 2,500 tickets (50 times 50) or $2,500. Total prize money is $500. The "take" is 80 per cent. This game is very popular with people who want to raise money in a hurry.)

When someone is facing a house edge of 60 per cent, he must lose over the long term.

The only hope to win is to invest a small amount and hope for an early miracle. It can and does happen. It is clear that it is not possible to win $1 million in a lottery unless you buy a ticket.

It is also clear that the more you buy, the greater you increase your chances of losing.

Nobody would be foolhardy enough to give any kind of advice when facing such astronomical odds in a game that is unfair from the start.

But the best hope seems to be to buy a single ticket — and hope for a miracle.

CAPACITY CROWDS of 8,000 Victorians boarded double-decker buses on the weekend to tour seven local attractions on a special $2 ticket. The hometown tourist promotion raised $16,000 for the Visitors Information Centre, which runs the Causeway bureau. The 8,000 tickets were all sold in less than three days to area residents taking advantage of the bargains. (Irving Strickland photo)

PARKING BAN HITS GROCER

Wiped Out by a Brush?

By PAUL NICHOLSON
Times Staff

The city took away 30 per cent of his business with the stroke of a brush last week.

"Everyone drive by now, not even stop for cigarette," says Lin in his broken English. "All afraid of signs."

Lin is the proprietor of the Busy Bee Food Market, 1134 Hillside (at Prior). For the five years he's operated out of that location, there has been ample parking along Hillside. He depends on convenient parking access for at least 30 per cent of his business.

Like most corner groceries, his profit is marginal. Now he worries he will have to close shop.

The city wants to reduce traffic accidents related to street parking on main arteries, like sideswipes and left-turn collisions.

The traffic volume on Hillside has increased 40 per cent in the past three years, says city traffic engineer Derek Wild.

Hillside today is at the same stage of traffic flow as Douglas was a few years ago when street parking was removed and left-turn lanes installed. There are 24,000 to 25,000 cars a day on Hillside.

But all the statistics don't impress Lin. All he sees is the yellow line and the steady stream of traffic that slows in front of his store, checks out the No Parking Anytime signs, and drives off again.

Up at Quadra, a few blocks further along, there is another grocery store, only this one has a recess carved out of the sidewalk for parking.

That's where Lin's customers go now.

"I don't understand," he says. "This section (of Hillside) is wider than other sections. In those two lanes you put three cars, no trouble."

Last year the sidewalk on the north side of Hillside was torn up by B.C. Hydro and B.C. Tel. Anticipating no street parking, the city asked shop owners if they wanted parking recesses cut into the sidewalks, Wild said.

Most said yes but, according to Wild, Lin said no. The engineer added that Lin was told there was a strong likelihood street parking would be ended in the near future.

Lin, however denies he was ever warned parking would be ended. He said the man from the city asked him if he wanted a driveway cut onto the apron behind the sidewalk at a cost to Lin of $300.

Lin said the property wasn't his and refused to pay the $300.

Peter Campbell, proprietor of Square Deal Second Hand at the corner of Prior and Hillside, supports Lin's version. Campbell also depends on ample parking access for much of his business — buying back beer bottles.

He said at the time of the sidewalk reconstruction last July, he anticipated the end of street parking on Hillside and requested a parking recess be cut in the sidewalk.

Hydro paid for the recess, he said.

Lin wants one of two things, a 15-minute parking zone on Hillside in front of his store or a recess or driveway on the sidewalk.

Wild said the first request is definitely out, but the second will be considered by council. He said if Lin had requested the recess at the time of the sidewalk work, it would have cost him nothing.

Council might pay for it, said Wild, but because money is scarce it may not.

Fire Destroys Shed, Garage

Additives Vital to Lifestyle

More and more Canadians are questioning the use of additives in food but Dr. James Buckley, a University of Victoria biochemist, says people can't do without them unless they change their lifestyle.

He was commenting on a statement by Washington State University scientist Dr. Larry Bramen that the average nine pounds of food additives people consume each year don't do them any good.

Dr. Bramen said major objection to additives is not their potential toxicity, but that they are non-nutritious foods.

Buckley believes some additives are unnecessary.

But he says it is likely Canadians will consume more additives because "food without additives usually requires more work to prepare and obtain."

"It is highly unlikely that a population that wants more leisure time will abandon additives," he said.

"Some of these coloring additives are foreign to our body systems," he said. "They are unnecessary. Some are derived from coal tar."

He said no one knows the long-range effects of these additives.

Some additives, such as monosodium gulutumate, disodium inosinate, lactic acid and other chemicals have their place, he said.

"Without food additives, we wouldn't be able to feed as many people today," he said.

Processed cheese would go mouldy within a week without additives while with the addition of sorbic acid it will last a year, he said.

Derrick Mallard, president of the Citizens' Association to Save the Environment (CASE), who has made a study of nutrition, agrees that some coloring additives are unnecessary, but thinks Dr. Buckley doesn't go far enough.

"The use of additives is getting out of hand," he said.

"For example, there are 1,500 kinds of flavoring compounds added to various foods," he said. "Other additives are used to hold food together."

From the War Past, a Useful Reminder

ONE GREY DAY IN THE Second World War, I came away from an American troopship in Vancouver harbor with a wad of reporter's notes and an arresting fact to digest.

The ship, crowded with soldiers and stinking of seasickness, was one transport unit of a Canadian-American expedition that rates no more than a footnote in military history.

That joint force had landed on the bleak Aleutian island of Kiska, prepared to battle occupying Japanese troops in what might prove to be a bloody, costly engagement. What it actually found was a ghost-island from which the Japanese had withdrawn.

So the "battle" for Kiska resolved itself into a struggle against boredom and the foul Aleutian climate, and I resurrect it here as an anticlimactic curiosity-piece.

Strict wartime censorship permitted me only a barebones account of what I learned from the men on the troopship. Also, my notes are long gone, and I must depend on less-than-infallible memory.

But the gist of it is this:

The attack followed the pattern established by American task forces in the South Pacific. Landing craft packed with assault troops, expecting they knew not what, bore in on the beaches.

Very many of those Canadians were drafted soldiers from Quebec. Their outfit, if memory serves, were the Regiment de Hull and the Fusiliers de Sherbrooke.

Let me digress here. A drafted man in that war was given two choices. He could elect for active service, in which case he might be sent as a prospective combatant to any theatre in which Canada was engaged. Or he could refuse active service and sweat out the war on Canadian soil, burdened with an unofficial and unflattering title.

He became a "zombie"... one of the living dead. It was a cruel title. But those were harsh years. The zombies had their camps apart. They trained, they drilled. They had no military future, and they remained the army's drudges.

By a later expansion of the Mackenzie King draft policy, they could be pressed into North American defence, which in this instance and by broad interpretation, meant the reclaiming of an Aleutian island. It was assumed, however, that their value as fighting troops would be negligible or non-existent.

Back now to Kiska. And remember, if you will, that even when the landing craft ramps crashed down and the assault teams hit the shore, it was in the expectation of lethal resistance.

It was hard even after the unopposed landing to accept the fact that the Japanese had gone.

Trigger fingers remained ready as the island was combed to the last hill and pocket where dug-in suicide squads might lurk. One Canadian officer who survived to laugh about the incident told how he flattened behind a rock barely in time to escape the fire of a jumpy infantryman who shot first and identified later.

The enemies on Kiska were frostbite and trench foot. The Canadians in their wool battle-dress and rugged boots were the lucky ones: many Americans shivering in soaked cotton and footwear better suited to jungle warfare sought a warm-up by Quebecois fires.

But the circumstance that justifies this looking-back to a minor episode in a distant war was of a different sort.

The shot-at major, a combat veteran, had only praise for the French-Canadians who went ashore on Kiska in anticipation of the worst.

"Brave men," he said. "Honest to God, you'd swear they were going to a party!"

So we come at long last to my reason for burdening you with this account. I expect that in this time of national tension, you too have listened to hotheads who would settle the Quebec separation issue by force of arms if necessary ... with a sneer for French-Canadian valor and effectiveness.

If such counsels were ever acted upon — a turn of events that I find fantastically remote — the result could well be civil war of a sort for which Spain and the United States provide grim precedents.

It would be long-drawn and hard-fought on both sides, and I doubt that Canada would survive it as a nation. Or, for that matter, as two nations.

Lord help us, this is no time for the exponents of empty-headed, racist jingoism to indulge in their donkey brayings! Full accord may elude us. But if such is possible, unity must stem from the cool thinking and the basic will that binds the elements of a country together.

Girl, 17, Escapes Abductor

The girl suffered only minor scrapes, bruises and cuts, Sidney RCMP said.

After making her escape and contacting police, she was treated at Resthaven Hospital in Sidney and released.

An RCMP spokesman said police have a suspect in mind and expect to make an arrest soon.

The girl was hitchhiking north on Highway 17 near the trans-Canada at about 6 p.m. when she was picked up by the man. She told him she was going to Sidney, but the man drove past the Beacon Ave. turnoff.

About a mile further, he drove to the side of the road, pulled a knife and told her to get onto the floor of the car and keep quiet.

Pump Station Not Needed, Says Expert

A 600-foot extension to the present McMicking Point outfall would provide efficient dilution and dispersal of sewage without the need for a pumping station, according to a former director of pollution control for B.C.

Charles Keenan, 192 Beach Drive, says in a lengthy brief that such an extension would be the obvious method of resolving the current controversy and "madness" surrounding the proposal to establish a pumping station at Shoal Bay.

He notes that off the McMicking promontory at the eastern end of Shoal Bay there are powerful tidal currents "passing back and forth, day in, day out, forever and an eternity."

This tidal movement makes McMicking an "ideal discharge point" for the volume of sewage proposed, he states.

Person Papers Scrutinize Maternity, Taxes, Health

The Person Papers!

In December I headed a column with that sentence, when I told you about the first of these booklets giving popularized versions of research papers produced by the Advisory Council on the Status of Women.

There were four of the booklets at that time, titled Matrimonial Property, Regarding Rape, Fringe Benefits and Birth Planning.

The Council, as I'm sure you know, was established several years ago to advise the Canadian government on policy related to women and to keep the public informed of its work and concerns.

It was in this last capacity that those first papers were produced especially to simplify the complicated changes still needed in law relating to the status of women and to bring them to as wide a public as possible.

Only the four papers were available in December, but it was announced that the ACSW intended to eventually print eight of the booklets.

That promise moved closer to fulfilment in the past month with release of three new brochures in the series, entitled The Price of Maternity, Taxation Untangled and Health Hazards at Work.

I received copies of these new papers from Victoria's Norrie Preston, one of two British Columbia women on the Advisory Council.

As she handed them to me, Norrie briefly explained that The Price of Maternity "deals with the complex federal and provincial laws relating to maternity leave and benefits."

It also "decodes" the Unemployment Insurance Act in relation to the 15 weeks of maternity benefits available to mothers, highlights the discrimination which remains, and makes recommendations for change.

It opens with a clear explanation of how our tax system works and encourages women to come to grips with the world of finance.

It goes far beyond this, Norrie pointed out "to explain how tax laws and regulations benefit the rich far more than the poor" and it stresses the fact (as statistics show so clearly) that, by and large, women are far more poor than men in Canada.

Here Mrs. Preston reminded me that this paper is based on a lengthy ACSW study entitled Occupational Health Hazards to Women.

She also said this booklet contains the first Canadian study to deal with specific occupationally caused health hazards which affect women, fetuses, and the reproductive systems of men and women.

"And certainly it highlights the need for intensive study in this neglected area."

Norrie then told me about a study on women in the public service, released by the ACSW at its quarterly meeting n January.

In it there's a quick glance at 1975 figures (the most recent available when the study was in progress) that showed women in the public service still held jobs in the lowest salary groups.

That 70 per cent of female employees, in 1975, earned less than $10,000 annually, while 73 per cent of male employees received annual salaries of more than $10,000.

The study announced that concentration of women in certain jobs "continues as before."

That in the administrative support category, the percentage of women increased by 27.5 per cent, instead of decreasing, as would have been necessary to attain a certain equity.

In 1975, there were 21 women at the senior executive level, as compared to 1,165 men. Of the nine women appointed that year, at this level, only three had not been previously employed in the executive category.

These figures clearly show that the federal government will have to be much more forceful if it really has the intention of improving the status of its female employees, the study points out.

Next meeting of the Advisory Council on the Status of Women will be held in Edmonton in early April.

"Almost certain to be on the agenda," Norrie Preston says, will be a report of the Badgley Committee on the Operation of the Abortion Law, set up by the federal government "to determine whether the procedure provided in the Criminal Code for obtaining therapeutic abortions is operating equitably across Canada."

This committee was not asked to consider the merits of the abortion law itself or to make recommendations, she explained.

"Its terms of reference state that it was to make findings on the operation of this law rather than recommendations on the underlying policy."

Postscript: The Person Papers, all seven of them, also the ACSW study on Women in the Public Service, are available FREE from The Advisory Council on the Status of Women, P.O. Box 1541, Station "B", 63 Sparks Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 5R5.

She Can't Lead You By the Nose

DEAR ABBY: Last summer for my 16th birthday, my mother gave me a nose job. My nose is a lot smaller now but it's slightly lopsided. I mean one of my nostrils is higher than the other.

After I had my nose done, my mother had hers done by another doctor. Hers came out really perfect, and now she wants her doctor to do my nose over.

"I don't want to go through that whole thing again with the black and blue eyes and the swollen face, but my mother insists on it. Don't you think I should have something to say about it? After all, it's my nose.

My mother says that as a minor I have to do whatever she says.

Please help me. — HAD ENOUGH.

DEAR HAD: If you're satisfied with your nose, hold your ground. Your mother can't force you into elective surgery. And knowing how you feel, no respectable plastic surgeon would take your case.

DEAR ABBY: My husband never fails to show me every item you put in your column about fat women.

Isn't it funny that a man never sees himself as he looks now? My husband had all his teeth pulled and won't wear his dentures. He's only 52, but he looks like 72. He goes around needing a shave, and I have to fight with him to get him to change his clothes.

Now for me: I was 27, slim and trim when he married me. Four years later, after I had my third baby, I was 50 pounds overweight.

My husband never wanted to go any place. He just wanted to stay home, drink beer and watch TV. I'm so fat now it's an effort for me to walk around, so of course my house is dirty. I'm in a terrible rut. If only I could lose this weight!

My husband won't lift a hand to help me, and the house is falling apart.

We have no friends and I'm so ashamed of the way we live, but I don't know how to change it. Am I hopeless? — NO FUTURE.

DEAR NO: You're only hopeless if you think you are. Start with yourself. Look up Overeater's Anonymous and force yourself to attend one meeting. Or contact your local mental health society. The kind of help you need is available in both places. But they won't come to you — you must go to them. Take this advice as though your life depended upon it — because it does.

If your spring cleaning list includes "shampoo carpet," check the price of rug shampoo at a janitor's store. They sell a highly concentrated rug-upholstery shampoo that must be diluted as much as 30 parts water to 1 part shampoo when using a machine to do the cleaning. I cleaned 200 square feet of carpeting with a half cup of the shampoo diluted 15 to 1, because I did it all by hand.

It pays to peek into the oven before you turn it on. Someone might've stored a plastic container or plastic-handled spatula in the oven. If the plastic melts, it can be dangerous. Melting plastic gives off toxic fumes — and a big stink. If you find such mess, don't try to burn off the plastic.

Get out the scraper and scrape it off. If your oven's "continuous cleaning" don't scrape at all; you can damage the special interior finish. Better call an authorized service dealer for help.

Dear Mike: My 1974 Chevelle V-8 will need a tuneup soon, and I plan to do it myself. My question concerns sparkplugs. The non-resistor type are less expensive, but do they also give a hotter spark and better gas mileage? I've heard they do. — SPARKY

Dear Sparky: No. The only difference between resistor and non-resistor plugs is that resistor types filter out ignition static that might play through your radio. In most newer cars, though, that's no problem and you can get away with non-resistors. As for a "hotter" spark, you have to realize that the spark doesn't actually heat up or get fatter, but certain heat ranges of plugs put the spark farther down inside the combustion chamber. This makes for more efficient flame propogation and more complete burning of the fuel. Unless you know an awful lot about engines, though, be sure to stick with the plug heat range the car manufacturer recommends.

Dear Mike: My 1969 Karmann Ghia has been badly eaten away by rust. We live in an area of much road salting in winter. The Ghia runs fine but needs about $1,000 of bodywork. We're very fond of this car and would hate to part with it, but do you think we'd be getting stuck with a bad bargain? Would we be smarter to invest in a new 1977 compact?—GHIA

Dear Ghia: Probably so, because even with the bodywork, you'll soon be running the danger of chassis and suspension failure.

Dear Mike: Our Gran Torino with the 302, V-8 and 2-barrel carb is meant to burn regular gasoline. It diesels, though, and both the dealer and the service station have suggested switching to high-test fuel. What do you say?—RUNS ON

Dear Runs: Try it. If it works it's probably the cheapest remedy you'll find. As I've mentioned many times before, dieseling can come from a dozen different causes, often several working concurrently. Switching to high-test is a fine place to start the cure.

Here's the Easiest Clear Wood Finish

By A. J. HAND

(c) 1977, Popular Science

No type of wood finish has as many strong points and as few weaknesses as the penetrating sealer. Penetrating sealers are simple to apply; they offer great protection and beauty; they are easy to touch up if damaged. They are at home on any style of work, from modern to early American. Penetrating sealers would be the most popular clear wood finish on the market if more people knew about them.

What is a penetrating sealer? It's a lot like a varnish, except that it's formulated to sink into the wood, not form a film on the surface. These sealers come in a variety of types and brands.

How to use them: Application requires just brushing on good and wet. Don't worry about doing a smooth job. Just soak the finish into the wood as long as the label recommends and don't leave any bare spots. Then just wipe off the excess with clean rags. Make sure you wipe off every trace of the finish; any left on the surface of the wood will leave behind a gummy, shiny deposit.

On porous woods, you may want to apply a second coat. Wait the proper interval (as indicated on the label) before applying the second coat. Handle this second coat exactly as the first. Some products may call for a light steel-wool rub between coats. Others require no between-coat treatment at all.

THE EASIEST CLEAR WOOD FINISH

The completed finish leaves very little film on the surface of the wood, so the texture of the wood remains uncovered and unchanged. In fact, the wood would look unfinished if it weren't for the color changes brought about by the sealer. All woods darken a shade, and take on a warm fiery look, with a great feeling of depth.

Where can you use penetrating sealers? On any interior wood surface that isn't already finished. Since these sealers are designed to penetrate, there's no point in putting them on already finished wood. They can't soak through the old finish, so when you wipe them with rags, you'll remove them completely.

You can use them for refinishing, as long as all the old finish has been removed. They are great for refinishing floors, for example. After the old finish has been sanded off, you apply the sealer in a double coat. The result is a deep, durable finish with no annoying surface sheen. If the floor is ever scratched, just brush on some sealer, let it set and wipe off. The damage will almost disappear.

You can also use these finishes over stains. This usually isn't necessary on dark woods; the sealer alone darkens these woods enough without the need for stains. But you may want to stain light woods such as maple, birch or pine before using the sealer. Make a test on a scrap before deciding.

Varnish is still your best clear finish for use outdoors. And sealers leave little or no surface sheen. If you're after a glossy or semigloss finish, you'll have to use one of the other clear wood finishes.

Toothless Grin

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto woman is giving a toothless grin over her experience during a heavy snow storm. She said, "I tripped and fell in the snow face first and I discovered my dentures had fallen out." Her search proved fruitless and she said she'd have to wait until the spring thaw to find them.

Learn 'Why' of Skin Problem

Ask Jennifer

Do you feel you are not looking your best these these days? Have you started to notice changes in your appearance that you don't like?

Not all of these are caused by advancing years, and many can be stopped before they take hold. Learn the "whys" and try some solutons.

DEAR JENNIFER: I am developing broken veins around my nose and on my cheeks. How can I avoid it?—Sue K.

Broken blood vessels can be hereditary but also can be caused by a high intake of alcohol or exposure to heat over a long period of time. High blood pressure and pregnancy also can contribute, as can a blow to the skin or pressure applied as in removing blackheads.

Check out this problem with your physician. There is a method of removing these red lines that is simple and usually successful but can only be performed by a physician.

DEAR JENNIFER: I am getting a furrow in my forehead and lines at the corners of my eyes. Will night cream help to stop these from getting worse? — Donna D.

Night cream will lubricate the skin, but it won't make the wrinkles disappear. What will help is having your eyes checked and joining a yoga program to rid your body of tension. Use a sunblock to protect from the aging effects of the sun and wear sunglasses in bright sunlight to avoid squinting.

DEAR JENNIFER: My make-up looks dry and caked. I have been very happy with the brand I use and faithful to it for years. What's gone wrong? — Sonya A.

A make-up that worked years ago when your skin might have been normal to oily will appear heavy on a now-dry skin. Often, make-up should be changed from winter to summer as well.

Buy a new light liquid make-up base and use it over a moisturizer. It should solve your problem.

CHEESE CAKE SUPREME

- 8 oz. package cream cheese, softened
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup milk
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ½ cup heavy cream
- 9 inch graham cracker pie crust, baked and cooled

Beat together the cheese, sugar, milk, lemon juice and vanilla until combined. Without washing beater, beat cream until extremely stiff; fold into cheese mixture. Turn into crust. Chill for 6 to 12 hours depending on how firm a filling you like. Before serving, if desired, top with fruit. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

NO CRASH DIETS FOR FAT BABIES

OTTAWA (CP) — Mounting evidence that fat babies and fat children grow to fat adults is no reason to put overweight babies on crash diets, experts warn.

Taking a fat baby off breastfeeding or formula and feeding it skimmed milk as early as three or four months of age will cause serious nutrition deficiencies and could retard growth, said Marylou Baxter, outpatient's dietitian at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

Mrs. Baxter said they tackle infant obesity first by looking at what the baby is eating and the amount.

"Sometimes we find a mother isn't diluting a concentrated formula, that she is simply feeding the baby too much, or that solid food has been introduced into the diet too soon."

Mrs. Baxter said once the problem is found and corrected the baby's rate of weight gain slows and the infant "grows into its proper weight."

Dr. M. M. Kindl, an Ottawa pediatrician who has been running a program for overweight children, said parents should be careful not to start their baby on bad eating habits by "feeding them every hour to shut them up."

By LYNN and JOEL RAPP

DEAR LYNN AND JOEL: I recently bought a beautiful Polypodium (lettuce leaf) fern, but the large fronds have been drying up and dying. I water it twice a week (somtimes three times) and keep it in different light, but the fronds continue to die even though it is sprouting new fronds all the time. What is the matter with it?

Also, I'm growing an avocado treee from a seed which has reached a height of three feet. The bottom leaves are dying and only the few top ones are nice. Is there anything I can do to help it along? — C.T.

DEAR C.T.: Let us hasten to assure you that your problems are not uncommon. Lettuce leaf ferns need enormous humidity in order not to dry up and die — and frequent watering is not the answer. The only hope in this case it to create as much humidity as possible, spray often — two or three times a day if you get a chance — and plant the fern in a bare-root basket using sphagnum moss as the planting medium. Feed monthly with a good fern food and keep it in good, but not hot, direct light. You should see an improvement in a couple of months.

As for the avocado, the damage was probably done when the plant was just beginning to grow. It is in the early stages that the stem should be cut back, thereby providing a full, bushy plant rather than a tall, single stem plant that will invariably drop its lower leaves. If you can stand the pain, cut it back down to about six or seven inches from the top of the soil and it will probably come back full and healthy again.

The Bridge Expert

INSERT BRIDGE HAND

On Fishbein's lead of the diamond six dummy's ten was played, and it won the trick. Declarer then cashed his ace and king of clubs, after which he led the jack of spades, offering it as bait. Had Fishbein taken the jack with the queen, dummy's ten would have been created as an entry for the cashing of the queen and jack of clubs.

But Fishbein declined the offering, and the spade jack won the trick. When declarer next played the ace and king of spades — felling West's queen — he promoted his fourth spade into a winner. But all he could make were eight tricks: four spades, two diamonds and two clubs.

When Fishbein was queried as to why he had defended as he did, he gave this explanation:

"Declarer gave the show away when he cashed the ace and king of clubs, and then cheerfully led the jack of spades, If he were so willing to give it away — presumably to make an entry out of dummy's ten of spades for the cashing of dummy's two high clubs — then it had to be wrong for me to take it. True, I figured to lose my queen by letting the jack win— but declarer figured to lose two tricks: dummy's clubs. So I gained a trick by declining declarer's offering.

"Incidentally, had declarer been a superior player, he would have made his contract. All he had to do at trick two — after winning my opening diamond lead with dummy's ten — was to lead a low spade and finesse his jack. At that stage, I would have had not reason to suspect what he was trying to accomplish, and I would have taken the jack with my queen.

"If I then cleared the diamond suit (instead of returning a spade), hoping that my heart ace would serve as an entry for the cashing of my established diamonds, declarer would have fulfilled his contract."

April will be outstanding for you in 1977, a year during which you get on solid footing, build prestige and find out who you are and what to do about making the most of it. By being you, success is practically a "sure thing."!

Sam chuckled. "My Dad used to tell me he had as many sisters as he had brothers, but his sister Ann had half again as many brothers as sisters."

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE BOOSTS RACQUET CLUB

A new type of membership is being offered to companies, he said.

For a membership fee of $250, five employees will be able to use the club's facilities by paying the monthly dues, he explained.

So far ten new firms had taken out membership, he said, and 25 firms are in the preliminary stages of becoming members.

Pharmacare Plans 'Not Set Yet'

The provincial government has definitely not finalized its plans for a new universal Pharmacare system and it could take until some time this summer to do so, Human Resources Minister Bill Vander Zalm said today.

Vander Zalm, in a telephone interview from his Surrey office, denied earlier reports from a Vancouver pharmacist that the program has been decided on.

Charles Willett, chairman of the B.C. Pharmacists Society committee that is negotiating with the government, said he has been led to believe the government plans to institute a $25 deductible program for senior citizens who now get free prescription drugs.

Willett said he believes other B.C. residents covered under the proposed program will pay $75 deductible and that the government will pick up only 80 per cent of the total cost of the prescriptions after the deductible.

But Vander Zalm said today the program has not yet been before the social services committee of cabinet for approval.

"They (the committee members) could tear it apart or change it or even say, not this year," he said.

"It's definitely not going to be ready for April 1 and it could be May 1 or June 1 or July 1. Out of the four, July 1 looks most possible."

He said some of Willett's statements are contrary to information he received earlier from the pharmacists society.

Willett has said he believes under the new program people will have to save their druggist's receipts until they total more than the deductible amount, then send them in to the provincial government for a refund.

He said the system will be a hardship on seniors who now have only to present their Pharmacare cards to get prescriptions and do not have to pay any money themselves.

Vander Zalm said Willett's opinion of the accountability" system for Pharmacare is "not in keeping with some of the information I've received earlier."

He said he is still receiving suggestions from his staff, doctors and pharmacists on what the new program should entail.

Home Short of Funds

Nigel House, a pioneer boarding house for the handicapped, will open as scheduled July 1 in spite of a poor response to a fund-raising campaign.

"We need another $34,000 to furnish the rooms for 35 people who will board there," Andrew Hazeland, president of the Vancouver Island Housing Association for the Physically Disabled, reports.

The $150,000 building under construction on Nigel Street near the Town and Country shopping centre is designed by architect John Di Castri and is the first of its kind in Canada.

It will have 17 single rooms and nine double rooms, plus an apartment for staff. Boarders will be served three meals a day and domestic help will be provided.

JUNK BRIGADE tramped through Mount Douglas Park Friday cleaning up debris and enjoyed hamburgers and french fries after their labors. Contractor Jim McLaren, who walks in the park daily, hired a crane and about 100 pupils from Gordon Head Elementary rounded up all sorts of refuse, including old chesterfields, a bathtub, car parts and tires. After two hours of garbage gathering, McLaren treated them to refreshments. (Irving Strickland photo).

More Jobs, Higher Pay Demanded by Women

OTTAWA (CP) — Women plan to campaign on Parliament Hill today for more jobs, higher wages, an end to wage controls, tougher price controls, better family law and a full debate in the Commons on abortion.

These were among demands agreed upon Sunday by delegates to the annual convention of the National Action Committee on the Status of Women who were scheduled to meet in small groups with cabinet ministers and MPS today.

To cap the weekend session of workshops on employment, income, family law and social services, committee president Lorna Marsden said anyone who believes the women's movement is dead "is fair game."

Among the laws delegates want changed are anti-inflatin legislation, the proposed human rights bi, the unemployment insurance program, manpower training regulations, the income tax act, pension rules, he divorce aca and Criminal Code sections on rape and abortion.

In a resolution calling for full employment, the National Action Committee criticized the government for suggesting recently "that unemployment among women is less than serious because women are regarded as secondary earners."

Madeleine Parent, executive secretary of the Canadian Textile and Chemical Union, and Grace Hartman, president of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, both told the conference that women are the first victims of layoffs.

To compound the difficulty, Ms. Parent said, officials who run the unemployment insurance program often suspect women of asking employers to lay them off first and require women to search more actively for jobs than men.

Despite opposition from Sharon Gray, wife of Liberal MP Herb Gray, delegates condemned wage controls on the grounds the anti-inflatin board keeps women at the lowest end of the wage scale by granting only across-the-board percentage increases.

Mrs. Gray, representing the Council of Jewish Women, said wage controls should not be lifted until there is a permanent restraint program to replace them. But delegates wanted controls on salaries lifted and controls on services, food, rent, clothing and drugs strengthened.

In addition, they planned to ask Justice Minister Ron Basford to toughen proposed legislation that would prohibit discrimination by employers in their hiring and firing practices and require them to provide equal pay for work of equal value.

Mental Health Meeting

A member of the Committee of Concern for Mental Patients will be guest speaker at a Canadian - Schizophrenia Foundation meeting tonight.

The centre, a non-profit organization formed in 1967, was set up to stimulate professional and public interest in the treatment of schizophrenia as a biochemical problem which can be treated through vitamin treatments in conjunction with conventional therapy.

Ocean Study...More Ideas Than Money

By AB KENT
Times Staff

Canada's west coast ocean scientists are probably doing less offshore work than their colleagues anywhere else in the world, thanks to federal budget restrictions.

And Dr. John Garrett, head of Environment Canada's Institute of Ocean Sciences offshore oceanography section, says in an interview the picture probably will not improve for two years.

He said his section has been led to understand there will be only limited funds this year and any major work depends upon the acquisition of new equipment and the availability of research ships.

Only two ships licensed for offshore service are in commission, and both are scheduled for hydrographic surveys which have been given priority.

"We put less effort into offshore oceanographic work than any other institute of oceanography in the world, so far as I can find out," Garrett commented. "And we are expected to give advice on a lot of oceanographic things."

He said institute scientists are used to working "lean," and that there have never been enough funds for the amount of research that could be done.

"In the past, Canadians have had more ideas than money," Garrett said.

Garrett said the role of the institutite in recent years has been to deal with crisis projects and urgent programs such as the Beaufort Sea study and revising the hydrographic status of proposed oil tanker routes, rather than ongoing investigations of the sea's physical properties.

To maintain a Canadian presence in this broader project, Victoria scientists this fall hope to take part in a joint project with ocean scientists from the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, San Diego, and from the University of Washington. Both organizations have their own research ships.

For three weeks they will work from the weather patrol area manned by the Canadian ships Quadra and Vancouver 700 miles west of Vancouver Island. Local oceanographers will be aboard the weathership.

The object will be to study the effect of storms on the upper mixed layer of the ocean, which at that time of year will be at its warmest and possibly most active.

Despite the budget constraints and limited programs, morale of the section has not suffered, Garrett said.

With adoption of a 200-mile limit of national sovereignty this year, Canada needs to know much more about the properties and influences of these waters, which up to now are hardly known.

"But there's no money for that at all," said the physicist.

"There's a lot of problems we feel we're not covering. The thing with oceanography is that it takes about four or five years to find out anything," he said.

Descriptive ocean nography of the continental shelf is certainly an area where Canada is under-represented, the scientist said. But there is also too little known of the shallower, open coastal waters like Queen Charlotte Strait and Hecate Strait, which Garrett called a complex region.

To try to overcome this, oceanographers would like to do detailed study of a magnitude that will have to wait for better economic times.

To do a proper job, would require a special towed instrument whose cost would run to about $20,000, plus a good chunk of ship time.

Instead, oceanographers will try to piggyback the hydrographic projects that get under way in that region about the end of next month in an effort to update navigation charts and provide more background for politican decisions to be made with regard to tanker routes.

Another project the institute had to abandon last year was a study of the upwelling phenomenon along the coast of Vancouver Island.

Onshore winds along the west coast south to California cause cold, deep waters to well up to the surface, affecting the atmosphere and weather.

"We wanted to add to the U.S. work but we didn't have a ship," Garrett said.

Meanwhile, a continuing program of sampling and measuring from on board the weathership will continue, taking a large part of the section's funds but helping to maintain a background of skills and credibility in the area of oceanography, he said.

And there will continue to be co-operative undertakings with the Americans working on sea and atmospheric interaction, wherever feasible.

Keg Race Friday

NANAIMO — Malaspina College's second annual Great Race will take place Friday starting at 3:30 p.m.

The race, launched on an unsuspecting public a year ago to mark the college's move from the Kennedy Street campus to its new location, consists of rolling metal beer kegs.

The race will begin at the main entrance of the old college building on Kennedy Street and continue by way of Fitzwilliam, Wallace, Frankin and Fourth streets to the finish outside the Wellington Centre.

As many as eight teams, each consisting of eight males and five femals, are expected to take part. Last year, geography students won in a time of 29 minutes, 34 seconds.

Beaver Creek School In the Movies

PORT ALBERNI — A Japanese television unit was expected to begin filming today at Beaver Creek elementary school outside Port Alberni.

The team is to film a typical week in the life of a Canadian rural school, District 70 school superintendent Roy Lyon told the board. The project is part of a program with the Canadian external affairs department and the film is to be shown to a Japanese television audience estimated at five million, Lyon said.

The board will meet the Japanese unit at a luncheon at the school Tuesday.

NEW DELHI — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi decided today to resign following the loss of her seat in Parliament and reverses suffered by her Congress party in the Indian general election, her spokesman said.

The prime minister's spokesman said Mrs. Gandhi would formally submit her resignation Tuesday, ending 11 years as leader of the world's second most populous nation. China has the largest population.

The Congress party, which has ruled India since independence from Britain 30 years ago, trailed by a wide margin in the parliamentary returns and appeared unlikely to win enough seats to stay in power.

With results declared in races of 393 of the 542 seats in the lower house of Parliament, the new Janata People's party and its allies had 198 seats.

The Congress party, which won two-thirds of the seats in the 1971 elections, had 120 seats. The pro-Moscow communists won seven seats, and independents and other groups split the remainder.

Hours after her defeat was announced, Mrs. Gandhi revoked the harsh and unpopular state of emergency which she imposed 21 months ago and which was largely credited for her downfall.

Mrs. Gandhi polled 122,517 votes to 177,729 for her rival, Raj Narain, a Socialist lawyer, in her home district of Rae Bareli, seemingly laying to rest her party's slogan that "India is Indira and Indira is India."

Her controversial 30-year-old son Sanjay lost by 75,000 votes in a constituency adjoining hers. Both were defeated by Janata candidates.

The chief contenders to succeed her are two former leaders of the Congress party who broke with her, Morarji Desai and Jagjivan Ram.

Desai, now 81, was Mrs. Gandhi's deputy prime minister in 1969 when she split the party in a struggle for power with conservative leaders. He and other conservatives formed the Opposition Congress, and in January it merged with three other opposition parties to form the Janata.

Ram, the 68-year-old leader of India's Untouchable caste, was agriculture minister in Mrs. Gandhi's last cabinet. He broke with her last month and formed the Congress for Democracy, which won seven seats in the early returns.

There was speculation that Mrs. Gandhi's defeat would produce more defectors from her Congress who would rally behind Desai or Ram.

UGANDA FLIGHT DEMANDED

Hostage-Taker Grabs 18 in Toronto Bank

Armed Toronto police guard bank entrance

TORONTO (CP) — A man who identified himself as Bob McClarkin of Vancouver and said he was holding 18 persons hostage in a downtown bank today said he wanted an airplane to take him to Uganda.

The man said in an interview with radio station CFTR he was armed with a 12-gauge shotgun loaded with five shots.

Asked if he was prepared to use the gun, the man said: "Yes, I am. That's why I brought it along."

Police said the man demanded a car to take him, four hostages and a senior police officer to Toronto International Airport.

The man said he wanted a C-130 Hercules airplane. He said the motive of the hostage-taking was to get to Uganda and not robbery.

A spokesman at the airport said emergency personnel was standing by to assist police. The spokesman said he did not know if a plane was being readied.

The bank, the Bank Canadian National, at the corner of King and Yonge streets, was surrounded by police, including Metropolitan Toronto's emergency task force.

Ambulances were standing by but it was not known if there were any injuries.

In an interview with As It Happens, a CBC radio program, the man was asked why he wanted to go to Uganda. He replied:

"Why Uganda? I want to see my pal Idi Amin. I'm a fan of his.

Tht man said he was a mercenary in the Congo in 1965.

"I'm in a pretty good situation really, as long as these cowboys (police) out here don't try anthing funny.

"I've got about 15 people up here and they've got nowhere to go. There's no way really the police can get at me unless they can snipe me, which I doubt."

A spokesman at CFB Trenton said the base had been requested to have a Hercules airplane on standby.

Curtis Plans New Transit Body

Municipal Affairs Minister Hugh Curtis attacked B.C. Hydro at the weekend for having a vengeful, negative and vindicative attitude towards his ministry's transit division, and said he will create a new authority to take over the planning and management of all transit services.

Curtis said legislation to set up the new body should be introduced this spring, and he hoped the move would lessen some of the friction between his office and Hydro which "seems to forget who's boss."

The minister said that with the creation of the new authority, Hydro would lose its role as planner and manager and would simply be charged with supplying services, for which it would be paid by the new body.

He said the authority was needed largely because of hostilities between his office and Hydro which he has been unable to overcome.

Curtis said Hydro leaves meetings in Victoria and "seems to go back into its Vancouver ivory tower and forget who's in charge . . . It seems to forget who's boss . . . Its boss is the government of the day, elected to govern for the people, not the reverse."

He said the ferry system "is beginning to have a serious strike against it from the process of Hydro badmouthing it all the time . . . The will do anything to cut down the ferry system."

Hydro chairman Robert Bonner, however, said today his organization supports the Burrard Inlet service and is doing its best to promote the operation. He denies that members of his management staff are trying to belittle or undermine the system.

"None of the Hydro management are making such statements to my knowledge," he said. "I'd be greatly surprised if there is any factual basis for that belief."

Bonner refused comment on Curtis's plans for a new transit authority, saying he will reserve judgment until the authority is established and its responsibilities made clear.

About the minister's attack on Hydro as vindictive and negative, Bonner would only say that "I don't comment on political statements from either side of the house."

Oil Tanker Breaks Apart

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A 711-foot Panamanian tanker carrying more than 546,000 gallons of fuel split in half off the coast of North Carolina early today.

Twelve crewmen are missing but 27 others have been rescued by passing ships.

Although the amount of oil spilled from the tanker Claude Conway was not determined, Coast Guard spokesman Les Ceney said that even if it all spilled, it would still be considered a relatively minor spill.

The tanker, carrying 7,000 barrels of intermediate fuel and 6,000 barrels of bunker fuel, was enroute from New York to the Bahamas, said its agent, Cosmopolitan Shipping of New York.

A passing merchant vessel reported at about 1:45 a.m. PST that the Claude Conway had split in half about 125 miles southeast of Wilmington, N.C.

The two sections of the severed tanker were floating more than two miles apart, Ceney said.

"What caused the craft to break in two, we don't know yet," Ceney said.

He said seas were calm and the wind was at 10 knots.

Ceney said uninjured survivors would be taken to next respective destinations of the three merchant vessels. He said it was not immediately determined where that was.

DIXY TAKES TANKER DOWN STRAIT

Ray took over the helm of the Arco Fairbanks, loaded with about 80,000 barrels of crude oil from Iran. She was on board at the invitation of Atlantic Richfield Oil Co. executives, who are trying to persuade Washington residents that supertankers are safe.

The governor steered the 138-foot-wide tanker through waters as narrow as one mile between the San Juan Islands.

Grizzly Plan 'No Secret'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial government plans to approve a $100 million Grizzly Valley pipeline development were "common knowledge" in Dawson Creek seven days before the official announcement, Arthur Cameron, former constituency secretary to Economic Development minister Don Phillips, said today.

Cameron told the Grizzly Valley pipeline inquiry under Mr. Justice Walter Kirke that he bought shares in one of the companies affected by the development three days before Premier Bill Bennett's announcement of the project in Dawson Creek Dec. 10, 1976.

The inquiry was called to investigate possible stock and land speculation based on confidential knowledge of the pipeline development which would tap two natural gas fields in northeastern British Columbia.

Cameron, a 24-year-old travel agent and director of the B.C. Social Credit Party, said there was rumor of a major announcement in Dawson Creek as early as Dec. 1. But by Dec. 3 he said, residents were convinced the government would announce a gas pipeline.

"Dawson Creek is a small town," Cameron said, "and everybody knows everybody else and everybody else's business. It was common knowledge.

Cameron said he received a confidential memo from Phillips Dec. 4 ordering him to arrange car transportation for the premier and other dignitaries on Dec. 10.

Cameron told the inquiry he went to his stockbroker Dec. 7 to buy shares in Quasar Petroleum Ltd., a company with large gas reserves in the region, but his broker advised against the purchases on the grounds that everyone

Out of the Stillness . . . Magic

By HUMPHREY DAVY
Times Staff

The woods were still except for gentle breezes moving from time to time through the tops of the tall fir trees.

Sachi Tamuri and Valerie Lowther discover leaves

Then, as if someone had waved a magic wand, the group of boys and girls, broke loose and the woods exploded with the sound of laughter and running footsteps as though 12 pent-up spirits had been released into space.

The scene was John Deane Park in North Saanich, one of several provincial and regional parks where handicapped children are exposed to the outdoors and nature.

The outdoors it appears has a therapeutic effect on the handicapped.

At least, that's the unanimous opinion of the program workers for the Victoria Society for the Recreation of Handicapped persons.

"One day we took a small group on a nature trail," she related.

Among them there was a boy who had never spoken. It was the first time that he had been exposed to wilderness and the lad seemed to glow as he viewed the trees, the wildflowers and moss covered rocks.

"Then it happened . . . he spoke for the first time. He even called me by my name," she said.

Simard said handicapped persons appreciate the outdoors and nature as much as anyone else.

"We are inclined to forget this when we are planning recreational activities for them," she said.

Some children show a keen interest in their surroundings. They ask the names of flowers, trees and birds, she said.

Those tastes of freedom — those moments of happiness for handicapped people, young and old, are among the reasons the Times has this month joined with CJVI in a campaign for operating funds for the recreational society.

Your Only Hope Is for a Miracle

If you buy too many lottery tickets you must lose.

Best hope for a million on a $10 bet is two tickets on the Provincial.

Best hope to win any kind of prize is 50-to-1 against you on Loto but the chances are it will be only $100.

Best hope to win big money on a small bet is the $50,000 prize for $1 on the Express where the odds are "only" 360,000 to one against you.

By AL FORREST
Times Staff

Your best chances of winning $1 million in a lottery is to buy two $5 tickets on the Provincial — but even then the odds aren't very good.

The odds against winning it are 430,000 to one. And that's better than 625,000 to one, which is the odds against winning $1 million by spending $10 on a Loto ticket.

On the other hand, your chances of losing are excellent.

One Victoria man, for example, believes his chances are 10 times better if he buys 10 of everything that's going.

His take-home pay, after taxes, of $13,000. Or it would be except for the lotteries. He spends $1,000 per year on the tickets, leaving only $12,000 for other expenses.

He is caught by the lure of tax free millions but his own after-tax resources are draining away.

Here's how it happens:

He buys 10 Loto Canada tickets for each draw. That's $100 a time. Other people just hope to win. But he must win a $100 prize just to break even.

He does this four times a year for a total cost of $400. Similarly he buys 10 $5 Provincial tickets for each of the six draws for a total of $300 for a full year.

In The Express he buys 10 dollar tickets 26 times a year for a cost of $260.

Total yearly bill $960. He gets it over $1,000 by a bit of extra impulse buying near the drawing date.

And he hasn't won a single prize so far.

The truth is, the more tickets you buy, the better your chances are of going broke.

For example, if you buy all the Loto Canada tickets issued you would become a multi-millionaire because there are $30 million in prizes. But it would cost $75 million to buy all the tickets. By buying all the tickets you must lose $45 million.

This principle holds true for any mass purchase of tickets; the more you buy the greater your chances of losing your shirt.

For example, if you had a million dollars, you could buy one million tickets on the next Express lottery. With average luck, you would win $75,000 in $25 prizes plus up to $25,000 more, for a total of $100,000.

In the next Express two weeks later, you could use your $100,000 to buy 100,000 tickets at one dollar each. In the draw, you figure to win up to $10,000 in all.

In the third draw, 10,000 Express tickets would leave you with $800, assuming your luck is average.

In the fourth draw you may end up with $25 or nothing at all. That's going from $1 million to nothing in eight weeks. You can win a million overnight, but your chances of losing one million are much better — if you buy too many tickets.

A fair game pays true odds. You toss a quarter and call it heads. If it's heads you win the quarter, if it's tails, you lose. Unless both sides of the coin are tails, it is a fair game.

Similarly, it is possible to hold a fair lottery. Ten people each toss one dollar into a pot and names of the 10 people go into a hat. Whoever's name is drawn wins the $10. The payoff exactly equals the chances of winning so it is a fair game.

All Canadian lotteries, however, pay off only about 40 per cent of true odds.

Of every $100 taken in, $20 goes in administration, $40 is retained as net proceeds (and turned over to government or Olympic use) and the remaining $40 is all that is left for prizes.

This means someone winning a $50,000 prize should really have been awarded $125,000 (considering the odds he faced) but the extra $75,000 has been retained by the lottery organizers as the house's cut in the game.

By contrast, a casino only takes about five per cent in a roulette game or blackjack. Even a slot machine only has an edge of about 18 per cent.

Race tracks, which are not the best place in the world to get rich, pay out at least 80 per cent of their receipts in prize money.

There is hardly any game more cruel than the lottery.

(The only popular game worse than the lottery's take of 60 per cent is the Grey Cup ticket swindle. The tickets at $1 each have scores for East-West ranging from 50-0 to 0-50. This produces 2,500 tickets (50 times 50) or $2,500. Total prize money is $500. The "take" is 80 per cent. This game is very popular with people who want to raise money in a hurry.)

When someone is facing a house edge of 60 per cent, he must lose over the long term.

The only hope to win is to invest a small amount and hope for an early miracle. It can and does happen. It is clear that it is not possible to win $1 million in a lottery unless you buy a ticket.

It is also clear that the more you buy, the greater you increase your chances of losing.

Nobody would be foolhardy enough to give any kind of advice when facing such astronomical odds in a game that is unfair from the start.

But the best hope seems to be to buy a single ticket — and hope for a miracle.

CAPACITY CROWDS of 8,000 Victorians boarded double-decker buses on the weekend to tour seven local attractions on a special $2 ticket. The hometown tourist promotion raised $16,000 for the Visitors Information Centre, which runs the Causeway bureau. The 8,000 tickets were all sold in less than three days to area residents taking advantage of the bargains. (Irving Strickland photo)

PARKING BAN HITS GROCER

By PAUL NICHOLSON
Times Staff

The city took away 30 per cent of his business with the stroke of a brush last week.

"Everyone drive by now, not even stop for cigarette," says Lin in his broken English. "All afraid of signs."

Lin is the proprietor of the Busy Bee Food Market, 1134 Hillside (at Prior). For the five years he's operated out of that location, there has been ample parking along Hillside. He depends on convenient parking access for at least 30 per cent of his business.

Like most corner groceries, his profit is marginal. Now he worries he will have to close shop.

The city wants to reduce traffic accidents related to street parking on main arteries, like sideswipes and left-turn collisions.

The traffic volume on his Hillside has increased 40 per cent in the past three years, says city traffic engineer Derek Wild.

Hillside today is at the same stage of traffic flow as Douglas was a few years ago when street parking was removed and left-turn lanes installed. There are 24,000 to 25,000 cars a day on Hillside.

But all the statistics don't impress Lin. All he sees is the yellow line and the steady stream of traffic that slows in front of his store, checks out the No Parking Anytime signs, and drives off again.

Up at Quadra, a few blocks further along, there is another grocery store, only this one has a recess carved out of the sidewalk for parking.

That's where Lin's customers go now.

"I don't understand," he says. "This section (of Hillside) is wider than other sections. In those two lanes you put three cars, no trouble."

Last year the sidewalk on the north side of Hillside was torn up by B.C. Hydro and B.C. Tel. Anticipating no street parking, the city asked shop owners if they wanted parking recesses cut into the sidewalks, Wild said.

Most said yes but, according to Wild, Lin said no. The engineer added that Lin was told there was a strong likelihood street parking would be ended in the near future.

Lin, however denies he was ever warned parking would be ended. He said the man from the city asked him if he wanted a driveway cut onto the apron behind the sidewalk at a cost to Lin of $300.

Lin said the property wasn't his and refused to pay the $300.

Peter Campbell, proprietor of Square Deal Second Hand at the corner of Prior and Hillside, supports Lin's version. Campbell also depends on ample parking access for much of his business — buying back beer bottles.

He said at the time of the sidewalk reconstruction last July, he anticipated the end of street parking on Hillside and requested a parking recess be cut in the sidewalk.

Hydro paid for the recess, he said.

Lin wants one of two things, a 15-minute parking zone on Hillside in front of his store or a recess or driveway on the sidewalk.

Wild said the first request is definitely out, but the second will be considered by council. He said if Lin had requested the recess at the time of the sidewalk work, it would have cost him nothing.

Council might pay for it, said Wild, but because money is scarce it may not.

Additives Vital to Lifestyle

More and more Canadians are questioning the use of additives in food but Dr. James Buckley, a University of Victoria biochemist, says people can't do without them unless they change their lifestyle.

He was commenting on a statement by Washington State University scientist Dr. Larry Bramen that the average nine pounds of food additives people consume each year don't do them any good.

Dr. Bramen said major objection to additives is not their potential toxicity, but that they are non-nutritious foods.

Buckley believes some additives are unnecessary.

But he says it is likely Canadians will consume more additive because "food without additives usually requires more work to prepare and obtain."

"It is highly unlikely that a population that wants more leisure time will abandon additives," he said.

"Some of these coloring additives are foreign to our body systems," he said. "They are unnecessary. Some are derived from coal tar."

He said no one knows the long-range efects of these additives.

Some additives, such as monosodium gulutumate, disodium inosinate, lactic acid and other chemicals have their place, he said.

"Without food additives, we wouldn't be able to feed as many people today," he said.

Processed cheese would go mouldy within a week without additives while with the addition of sorbic acid it will last a year, he said.

Derrick Mallard, president of the Citizens' Association to Save the Environment (CASE), who has made a study of nutrition, agrees that some coloring additives are unnecessary, but thinks Dr. Buckley doesn't go far enough.

"The use of additives is getting out of hand," he said.

"For example, there are 1,500 kinds of flavoring compounds added to various foods," he said. "Other additives are used to hold food together."

Fire Destroys Shed, Garage

From the War Past, a Useful Reminder

ONE GREY DAY IN THE Second World War, I came away from an American troopship in Vancouver harbor with a wad of reporter's notes and an arresting fact to digest.

The ship, crowded with soldiers and stinking of seasickness, was one transport unit of a Canadian-American expedition that rates no more than a footnote in military history.

That joint force had landed on the bleak Aleutian island of Kiska, prepared to battle occupying Japanese troops in what might prove to be a bloody, costly engagement. What it actually found was a ghost-island from which the Japanese had withdrawn.

So the "battle" for Kiska resolved itself into a struggle against boredom and the foul Aleutian climate, and I resurrect it here as an anticlimactic curiosity-piece.

Strict wartime censorship permitted me only a barebones account of what I learned from the men on the troopship. Also, my notes are long gone, and I must depend on less-than-infallible memory.

But the gist of it is this:

The attack followed the pattern established by American task forces in the South Pacific. Landing craft packed with assault troops expecting they knew not what, bore in on the beaches.

Very many of those Canadians were drafted soldiers from Quebec. Their outfit, if memory serves, were the Regiment de Hull and the Fusiliers de Sherbrooke.

Let me digress here. A drafted man in that war was given two choices. He could elect for active service, in which case he might be sent as a prospective combatant to any theatre in which Canada was engaged. Or he could refuse active service and sweat out the war on Canadian soil, burdened with an unofficial and unflattering title.

He became a "zombie"... one of the living dead. It was a cruel title. But those were harsh years. The zombies had their camps apart. They trained, they drilled. They had no military future, and they remained the army's drudges.

By a later expansion of the Mackenzie King draft policy, they could be pressed into North American defence, which in this instance and by broad interpretation, meant the reclaiming of an Aleutian island. It was assumed, however, that their value as fighting troops would be negligible or non-existent.

Back now to Kiska. And remember, if you will, that even when the landing craft ramps crashed down and the assault teams hit the shore, it was in the expectation of lethal resistance.

It was hard even after the unopposed landing to accept the fact that the Japanese had gone.

Trigger fingers remained ready as the island was combed to the last hill and pocket where dug-in suicide squads might lurk. One Canadian officer who survived to laugh about the incident told how he flattened behind a rock barely in time to escape the fire of a jumpy infantryman who shot first and identified later.

The enemies on Kiska were frostbite and trench foot. The Canadians in their wool battle-dress and rugged boots were the lucky ones; many Americans shivering in soaked cotton and footwear better suited to jungle warfare sought a warm-up by Quebecois fires.

But the circumstance that justifies this looking-back to a minor episode in a distant war was of a different sort.

The shot-at major, a combat veteran, had only praise for the French-Canadians who went ashore on Kiska in anticipation of the worst.

"Brace men," he said. "Honest to God, you'd swear they were going to a party!"

So we come at long last to my reason for burdening you with this account. I expect that in this time of national tension, you too have listened to hotheads who would settle the Quebec separation issue by force of arms if necessary... with a sneer for French-Canadian valor and effectiveness.

If such counsels were ever acted upon — a turn of events that I find fantastically remote — the result could well be civil war of a sort for which Spain and the United States provide grim precedents.

It would be long-drawn and hard-fought on both sides, and I doubt that Canada would survive it as a nation. Or, for that matter, as two nations.

Lord help us, this is no time for the exponents of empty-headed, racist jingoism to indulge in their donkey brayings! Full accord may elude us. But if such is possible, unity must stem from the cool thinking and the basic goodwill that binds the elements of a country together.

Girl, 17, Escapes Abductor

The girl suffered only minor scrapes, bruises and cuts, Sidney RCMP said.

After making her escape and contacting police, she was treated at Resthaven Hospital in Sidney and released.

An RCMP spokesman said police have a suspect in mind and expect to make an arrest soon.

The girl was hitchhiking north on Highway 17 near the trans-Canada at about 6 p.m. when she was picked up by the man. She told him she was going to Sidney, but the man drove past the Beacon Ave. turnoff.

About a mile further, he drove to the side of the road, pulled a knife and told her to get onto the floor of the car and keep quiet.

Pump Station Not Needed, Says Expert

A 600-foot extension to the present McMicking Point outfall would provide efficient dilution and dispersal of sewage without the need for a pumping station, according to a former director of pollution control for B.C.

Charles Keenan, 192 Beach Drive, says in a lengthy brief that such an extension would be the obvious method of resolving the current controversy and "madness" surrounding the proposal to establish a pumping station at Shoal Bay.

He notes that off the McMicking promontory at the eastern end of Shoal Bay there are powerful tidal currents "passing back and forth, day in, day out, forever and an eternity."

This tidal movement makes McMicking an "ideal discharge point" for the volume of sewage proposed, he states.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE BOOSTS RACQUET CLUB

The Racquet Club membership drive to help overcome financial difficulties is doing well, according to club assistant manager Edward Moyes.

The campaign was launched after the club lost 300 members to the Oak Bay Recreation Centre.

Moyes said 55 members are busy soliciting.

A new type of membership is being offered to companies, he said.

For a membership fee of $250, five employees will be able to use the club's facilities by paying the monthly dues, he explained.

China Hit By Drought

TOKYO (AP) — China has been hit this spring by the most severe drought since the People's Republic was established in 1949, Peking radio reported.

A Chinese-language broadcast monitored in Tokyo gave no details but said the drought is seriously threatening agricultural production.

Army units have been mobilized to fight the drought in Honan, Shansi and Shantung provinces, the broadcast said.

Pharmacare Plans 'Not Set Yet'

The provincial government has definitely not finalized its plans for a new universal Pharmacare system and it could take until some time this summer to do so, Human Resources Minister Bill Vander Zalm said today.

Vander Zalm, in a telephone interview from his Surrey office, denied earlier reports from a Vancouver pharmacist that the program has been decided on.

Charles Willett, chairman of the B.C. Pharmacists Society committee that is negotiating with the government, said he has been led to believe the government plans to institute a $25 deductible program for senior citizens who now get free prescription drugs.

Willett said he believes other B.C. residents covered under the proposed program will pay $75 deductible and that the government will pick up only 80 per cent of the total cost of the prescriptions after the deductible.

But Vander Zalm said today the program has not yet been before the social services committee of cabinet for approval.

"They (the committee members) could tear it apart or change it or even say, not this year," he said.

"It's definitely not going to be ready for April 1 and it could be May 1 or June 1 or July 1. Out of the four, July 1 looks most possible."

He said some of Willett's statements are contrary to information he received earlier from the pharmacists society.

Willett has said he believes under the new program people will have to save their druggist's receipts until they total more than the deductible amount, then send them in to the provincial government for a refund.

He said the system will be a hardship on seniors who now have only to present their Pharmacare cards to get prescriptions and do not have to pay any money themselves.

Vander Zalm said Willett's opinion of the accountability" system for Pharmacare is "not in keeping with some of the information I've received earlier."

He said he is still receiving suggestions from his staff, doctors and pharmacists on what the new program should entail.
